HUNDREDS KILLED BY BLAST

EXPLOSION IS FATAL

War Material Blows Up and Advices From Athens Say
Hundreds of Children Were Buried Under Ruins of the Wrecked Church.

MANY SOLDIERS ARE REPORTED AS DEAD

racks While Eating Dinner

—Fires Add to Terror and People Flee.

(Associated Press.)
ATHENS, April 20.—Advices from Saloniki today report great loss of life at Monastir, as a result of an explosion of war material stored in barracks. Hundreds of children were buried in the ruins of a church on which shells fell and it was believed 1,800 soldiers were buried in the ruins of their barracks, which were demolished. The explosion occurred at noon yesterday. Details are lacking but the dispatch received here said it was known that the death toll was large.
The buildings were burning when the barracks were destroyed and a large number are known to have been killed. Fires immediately broke out in several places and the inhabitants fled in panic as the entire town was endangered.

The similarity of the foregoing dispatch to one from Belgrade yesterday which reported an explosion at Monastir in the southern part of old Serbia, when an ammunition dump blew up, makes it seem possible that both relate to the same disaster.
Monastir is about 80 miles northwest of Saloniki.

Hundreds Reported Dead.
(International News Service.)
LONDON, April 20.—Hundreds of persons were reported to have been blown to pieces in a munitions explosion near Saloniki, according to a dispatch received here today.

Saloniki is a city of about 100,000 inhabitants, mostly Jews and Moroccans. It is the most important seaport of European Turkey.

WILL PAVE EAST O STREET ROAD

Bryan Announces Plan to Extend Work to City Limits.

Will Secure Consent of Property Owners to Improvement.

City Commissioner C. W. Bryan announced Thursday that plans are under way to extend the pavement
on East O street to Forty-fourth street, the city limits. O street is now paved as far east as the entrance to the cemetery at Thirty-sixth street.

The city has a right to order O
street paved to the city limits, as it is an important thoroughfare, Mr.
Bryan said, but he prefers to secure the consent of the property owners and believes he will be able to do so.
Trustees of both cemeteries are willing to pay their share of the cost, he said.

Mr. Bryan said he had reason to believe that the county and the state will pave the East O road a distance of approximately two miles east from the city limits as soon as the city pays to the corporation line.

When this is done, it will only be necessary to pave three-quarters of a mile south from Bethany to connect Bethany with Lincoln by a direct route paved all the way.

Page Calls King "Old Bean" and Is Given Reward

MADRID, April 20.—"Would you have the kindness to ask the secretary to speak on the telephone?"

This message, received by a page at the military club of Madrid, so astounded him by its possibility that he thought one of the other boys was having a joke
with him. He therefore replied:
"Hold the line, old bean (or the Spanish equivalent) and I'll give him to you."

To his horror, the secretary addressed the person who had called as "Your majesty."

Shortly afterwards a message
came that the page was to go to the palace. There the king received him and gave him a 100
peseta note, saying laughingly,
"There you are old bean" and invited him to spend the rest of the afternoon at the palace with the royal children.

Forced Non-Union Miners to Wear "Scab" Placards

BELLAIRE, O., April 20.—Five local employees of a non-union mine in Benwood, W. Va., were captured by a band of 100 persons while on their way to work
this morning and forced to march reading:
"I am a dirty scab!"
One negro who attempted to escape was beaten.
A patrolman stopped the marchers at the city building and they promised to release their "prisoners."
Some of the "prisoners" were captured by an Ohio river ferry boat landing and the others are said to have been taken from street cars.

STEELE IS NEW CHIEF

Minneapolis Man's Appointment to Succeed Olson is Approved at Special Meeting of City Council.

The appointment of John E. Steele
as fire chief was approved by the city council at a special meeting held for that purpose Thursday morning. The vote in favor of Mr.
Steele's appointment was unanimous. The appointment was effective immediately.

Mr. Steele has been a member of the Minneapolis, Minn., fire department for the last eleven years, and for several years past he has been captain at the largest fire station in Minneapolis, in the heart of the business district.

He will be 24 years old next Sunday. He expects to bring his wife and one child to Lincoln immediately. In a brief speech Mr. Steele told members of the city council that he realized it was a great responsibility to be placed in charge of the fire department with a reputation such as the Lincoln department has, and that he would try to merit the confidence imposed in him.

Mr. Steele was highly recommended by the chief of the Minneapolis fire department, who is also vice president of the International Association of Fire Engineers.

BAY STATE MIGHT SEND MONEY HERE

Massachusetts Bonds Now Owned By State of Nebraska.

Treasurer Cropsey Offers to Retire Low Interest Issue.

If the state of Massachusetts is so well off financially as its governor boasted some time ago, when he wrote to Governor McKelvie telling how a large balance had been accumulated there under a new budget system, it will have a chance to use some of the spare funds by paying off its indebtedness to the state of Nebraska, which amounts to $780,- 000.

Treasurer Cropsey of Nebraska has written to the state treasurer of Massachusetts, reminding him that this state holds Massachusetts state bonds aggregating the above sum,
and that he would accept payment of their face value with accrued interest if Massachusetts feels able to redeem them at this time.

The bonds have eighteen years or more yet to run, as five years were issued about the year 1900 for a term of forty years. Nebraska had money in its permanent school fund awaiting investment at that time, and it was used to buy these and other bonds.
As the Massachusetts securities,
however, bear only 3 and 3 1/2 per cent interest, Treasurer Cropsey is willing to dispose of them if the Bay
state wants to take them up at par.
He wrote four or five days ago and has no reply as yet. If his offer is accepted, the money received for the bonds will be reinvested in Nebraska municipal, school district, county and other securities.

Cropsey doesn't expect that the Massachusetts official will buy the bonds at this time, but he thought he would take a chance on it and see whether the roseate state about this state having more money than it knew what to do with were true.

April Bids to Set New Record in Building

The present prospect is that the new high mark established in March for the largest number of building permits ever issued in Lincoln in one month will be exceeded in April.
In March 126 permits were issued.
With only two-thirds of the month gone, 113 permits have been issued in April. At the present rate, the total for April should be around 160 permits.

Permits issued in April in previous years were as follows: In 1915, 58; in 1916, 58; in 1917, 56; in 1918, 29; in 1919, 79; in 1920, 69 and in

BYRUM READY TO MAKE CODE LAW CAMPAIGN ISSUE

Only Candidate to Openly Declare Himself on New System.

Wants State's Business to be Handled by Elective Officers.

A. H. Byrum, candidate for the republican nomination for governor, indicated Thursday forenoon, during a visit to the capitol, that it is the other G. O. P. aspirants desire to go before the voters as endorsing the code law
and its duplicate governmental machinery he stands ready to meet them
on that issue.

Mr. Byrum is the only candidate running in the republican primary who has declared himself in favor of eliminating code secretaries appointment by the governor and having the work done by constitutional officers whom the people elect. C. H. Randall, one of his opponents, helped to frame and pass the code law in 1919, and recently said he thought it should be given a further trial.

"Do you think the repeal or modification of the code law will be a prominent question in the republican primary campaign?" was asked of Mr. Byrum.

He gave definite views of my own regarding the law, he replied, "If it is an issue I am entirely willing to make it so. So far I have not been able to discover what they are for and what they are against."

"Has not Mr. McKelvie already made it an issue by his statement?"
"It will be an issue so far as I am concerned if he maintains that position."

Has Made No Alliance.
Byrum said, in answer to a query
that he has made no alliance with anyone in the capitol.

"I didn't have a chance to do so,"
he replied.

The Bloomington man has not done
very much campaign work as yet, he stated, but has been around to some extent in his own and neighboring counties.

"But I am hearing from my friends
all the time, and you can say I am satisfied with the conditions," he told The Star.

Byrum had a conference here Wednesday evening with R. G. Douglas of Osceola, who will have charge of his campaign, and some other friends.
He went to Omaha for a similar conference there Thursday evening.

While in Lincoln he met and chatted with Mr. Randall, one of his rivals for the gubernatorial nomination.

Headquarters for Byrum will soon be opened in Lincoln. Mr. Douglas will be there a part of the time, and a vice chairman will be named to look after things when he is away.

TO DERAIL A TRAIN

Effort Made to Wreck Northwestern Passenger at York
—Steel Rail is Chained to the Track—Two Men Held For Investigation.

YORK, Neb., April 20.—A westbound passenger train on the Northwestern ran into a three foot rail
that was chained to the track at last evening. The obstruction was pushed aside by the engine. This is the second or third attempt to derail trains on the Northwestern at this point. Two men were held in the county jail for investigation in connection with the alleged attempt to wreck the train.

Police officers are investigating
a petty theft which took place at 410
North Thirtieth street Wednesday night. Mrs. O. Neall lives at this place and had placed a walnut stained arm chair on the porch. She stepped into the house for a moment, and returned to the porch just in time to see two young men, assisted by two young women, place
the two chairs into an automobile,
climb in and drive off.

Mrs. Neall called the police and officers went out but found no trace of the car. Mrs. Neall said the chairs were of considerable value.

1921 Production of Beet Sugar Lower

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Beet sugar production for 1921 amounted to 1,020,469 short tons, Secretary Wallace announced today, adding that this amount was 68,532 tons less than the production of 1920.

Farmers received $49.15 a ton for 7,782,000 tons of the sugar beet crop
for 1921 which afforded an average of 60¢ per acre.

COMMITTEE IS NEARING END OF INSPECTION TRIP

Testimony on Sherman County Roads Taken at Loup City.

Hearing Clears Up Misunderstanding on Projects Under Fire.

(Special to The Star from a Staff Correspondent.)
LOUP CITY, Neb., April 20.—
Marked by an absence of bitterness,
which has been the case in the other state road investigation proceedings
this week, the hearing which opened Thursday morning in the court house
there was expected to go a long way
in clearing up the misunderstanding regarding state and county construction of highways. The Sherman county people showed a fine spirit
of welcoming the facts and standing for a square deal and the meeting was clearly the most friendly of the entire trip.

Loup City held a rousing reception
for the party on its arrival Wednesday evening. Governor McKelvie made a speech in which he stressed co-operation with the state. Several members of the club also spoke, briefly touching on Sherman county's complaint, which led to the probe.

At the hearing this morning, State Engineer Johnson went into the details of Project 44, a stretch of ten miles between Rockville and Loup City. He said the contract was let at Loup City, the estimated cost being $76,000. The contractor was referred to as the job was half completed and he was paid $38,000, according to Johnson. The reason the contractor was relieved was that prices were falling and the county
felt it could do the work cheaper.

Mr. Johnson also spoke of Project 44, a road built by the county under the supervision of the state department. This is a new road northwest of Litchfield, and is four miles long.
The state engineer told the committee that the cost of $7 A was approximately $1,600 a mile and that of Project 44, built by the county company, the former is not yet completed. Answering a question of Governor McKelvie, Mr. Johnson said said there was no comparison between the government and state roads, and that different equipment
was necessary on each project.

In 1918, the witness stated, seven counties chose to do the road work
but only two completed the jobs.
Herman Johnson, chairman of the county board declared that there was no comparison between Project 44 and the state road. He said the level and the county road all hills and that the county was forced to move twice as much dirt as the state. Testimony was also given by L. M. Stephens, county clerk. Mr.
Johnson stated that the soil on the state road was removed twice.

afternoon.

The Grand Island Chamber of Commerce will entertain the investigating committee Thursday evening.
The party will return to Lincoln
late Thursday or early Friday morning.

MRS. SNOOK NOW IN PENITENTIARY

Prison Doors Close Behind Woman Convicted of Killing Husband.

Begins Her Sentence Two Months to the Hour
After Murder.

The massive, cold gray stone walls of the Nebraska state penitentiary swallowed up Mrs. Willette Snook, Thursday morning, when she began her sentence for the death of her third husband.

Hereafter, she will be known as
"Convict, No. 5351."

The steel doors clanked behind her with a haunting echo—exactly two months to the hour after she is alleged to have plunged a carving knife into the heart of her husband.

"I wish I could have gone on the witness stand and told my story," she murmured. "I don't believe I'd have been given ten years."

Mrs. Snook, who is only twenty-two years old, slight of stature and weighs less than 100 pounds, hung her head when asked if she was sorry. Jackie, her eight-year-old son by her first husband, had been sent to his great-grandmother, Mrs. E. M.
Burackman, of Des Moines, "Billie,"
as Mrs. Snook was commonly called, apparently as alone and friendless imprisoned as she was.

The bravery with which Mrs. Snook faced the ordeal of her trial did not vanish until Sheriff Miller's wife bade her goodbye. Tears came into her eyes and she choked back her sobs.

Mrs. Snook's daily tasks will be exceedingly light. She will help with the housework of the warden, deputy warden and steward's family living quarters in the penitentiary. Do typewriting, she is given outdoor exercise every day; religious services on Sunday and after 4 p. m. her time is her own until bedtime.

Mrs. F. Lohard, the penitentiary matron, will have charge of Mrs.
Snook.

M'CORMICK MEETS FIANCEE IN PARIS

(International News Service.)
PARIS, April 20.—Allister McCormick met his fiancée, Mary Landon Baker, here today. He flew over from London, had a rendezvous of a few hours with the Chicago girl, who has twice left him "waiting for the altar" and took the air route back to London.

Rumors that Miss Baker had sent him scurrying back to England were refuted by her appearance at his home. McCormick met her at the airport and took her to the hotel where he is staying.

Grocer Is Robbed of $80 in Change

G. W. Bair who operates the small grocery at 1027 North Twenty-third street was robbed of $80 in silver sometime between 8 a. m. and 10 a. m. Thursday at his store.

The money had been kept in a small sack, in a pigeon hole of a cabinet on the wall behind the counter.

Mr. Bair said that he took some change out of the bag about 8 a.
m. and put it back into its hiding place. About 10 o'clock he missed
it. No one was seen around the counter, and police appeared at a loss to account for the disappearance.

The money consisted of dollars,
half dollars and quarters. According to Mr. Bair the bag had been kept in that pigeon hole for the last five years.

PIONEER IS CALLED

Aaron S. Raymond, Prominent Pioneer Business Man of Lincoln, Passes Away Suddenly Thursday Afternoon.

HAD BEEN ILL
BUT A FEW DAYS

One of Founders of Raymond Bros., Wholesale Grocers, Later Retiring to Establish Lincoln Drug Company.

Aaron S. Raymond, pioneer Lincoln business man, expired suddenly at his home, 1842 E street, at 12:30 p. m.
Thursday, the cause of his demise being heart failure. Mr. Raymond had been a sufferer from enlargement of the heart, and on this account had been confined to his bed for the past two weeks. He was eating lunch
when the summons came, his condition having been noticeably improved
in the past few days it was thought that he would be able to be about again next week. The kiss of death caused not a tremor and those at the bedside could scarcely realize that the visitor had entered.

Mr. Raymond was born in Niskayuna, Schenectady county, N. Y., November 25, 1844, and came to Lincoln in 1873. He at once engaged in the wholesale grocery business, being one of the founders of Raymond Brothers. During the nearly half century that he has resided in this city he has been one of the active figures in its commercial life. Retiring from the grocery firm twenty-five years ago he established the Lincoln Drug company, being its president until the time of his death.
He was one of the founders of the old Union League club, which later became the Commercial club and is now the Chamber of Commerce.
At one time he was treasurer of the Lincoln Board of Trade and was a member of the banking firm of Raymond, Brothers, Teasdale & Hastings. He was also a director of the Lincoln & Fremont railroad.

Deceased was the last of six brothers, sons of Rev. H. A. Raymond, Jr.
(Rev. H. A. Raymond, Jr., who was an active member of the First Congregational church of Lincoln and a generous contributor thereto.)

Mr. Raymond is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. J. E. Gavin (Ruth), Mrs. George and Dorothy, and one son, Arthur. The younger daughter, Miss Dorothy, sailed in February with Mrs. W. A. Green and Miss Edith Curtis for a Mediterranean cruise and will not be expected to return until the early part of the summer. She is now in Paris.

No funeral arrangements have as yet been made.

MANY THOUSAND ACRES COVERED BY HIGH WATER

Levees Give Way Under Constant Lashing and Flood Lowlands.

Mississippi River at New Orleans Passes Highest Mark
in History.

(Associated Press.)
CARROLLTON, Ill., April 20.— Breaking of the Hartwell levee on the Illinois river, near here, last night,
completed the flooding of 30,000 acres of reclaimed farm land, along a twenty-three mile river front in Green county. Reports say that few, if any lives were lost, as the populace had been forewarned.

Hartwell levee protecting 8,000 acres of wheat land, is the third largest levee in Green county to yield to the pressure of the flooded Illinois. The others, which gave way
last week, were at Eldred and Fairbanks. These three levees afforded protection to thirty thousand acres
of which reports say at least half was planted to wheat.

Last night's break occurred at a point directly opposite the pumping station and did great damage to it.
Workers there, however, are said to have escaped without injury.

RUSSIANS REFUSE TO PAY WAR DEBT

Decline to Meet Conditions
Laid Down By Conference
at Genoa.

Announcement Has Effect of Bombshell in Camp
of Allies.

(International News Service.)
GENOA, April 20.—Russia refuses
to recognize the debts contracted by
the czarist government during the war and later by the Kerensky government. In their answer to the allied demands made public here today
the envoys of soviet Russia asserted
that they cannot meet the conditions
laid down for them. The Russian reply was a lengthy document in which
the soviet government sought to justify
its refusal to recognize the war time
debts.

The announcement had the effect
of another bombshell in the allied camp. Just a few minutes before the Russian answer was made public,
Premier Lloyd George had received
correspondents.

"I am not going to anticipate the character of the soviet's reply," he said, "but I'll be very much surprised
if it is not of such a character that we can safely proceed with the conference."

No Secret Clauses.
GENOA, April 20.—Russia was rather
naive, head of the German delegation
in a statement today, denied that the Russo-German treaty contained any secret clauses.

"Especially there is no clause providing for a military alliance between the two countries," he declared.

"Germany and Russia have agreed,
as a result of conferences, that they
will not cancel the treaty," Rathenau
continued. "You cannot make this too strong. We will maintain the treaty."

The German leader was indignant
over a rumor that has been spread
to the effect that there has been a split
in the German delegation. The rumor
had it that Chancellor Wirth and Rathenau had split.

"The rumor is absolutely unfounded," Rathenau said. "The whole
delegation is absolutely unanimous."
Despite Rathenau's positive statement that Russia and Germany had
agreed not to withdraw the treaty
several conference officials professed
today to see the German position
weak. It was declared that the headquarters of the British delegation that it would not be surprising
if the Germans were to suspend the treaty for the present or at least
modify some of its provisions. Constant pressure from the allied
spokesmen, it was said, was having
an effect upon the Germans.

Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain was in an optimistic frame
of mind today.

"I sincerely hope the incident will present no further difficulties for the conference," he said.

REROUTE HIGHWAY

Mayor Zehrung Outlines Proposed Change in D. L. D.
Road Through Lincoln to Eliminate the Bad Paving Stretches

SOUTH ON THIRTY-THIRD TO O STREET

City Commissioners Say Coming Summer Months Will See Unusual Amount of Paving Work.

Mayor Zehrung told members of the city council at an informal meeting Thursday that the city had been asked to consent to the rerouting of the D. L. D. highway south on Thirty-third street from Holdrege to O street and then west on O street through the retail section of the city.

Commissioner C. W. Bryan said he had no objection to the rerouting of the D. L. D. highway as it was put in a satisfactory condition. Heretofore, the D. L. D. has come west on Hold-rege street to Twenty-seventh street and then south to O street, over some very rough pavement on Twenty-seventh street between Vine and Holdrege streets.

Mr. Bryan said the Traction company had promised to re-lay its tracks and fix up the pavement between the rails between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets, between Twentieth and Twenty-fifth streets and between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-seventh streets on O street.
and had already commenced the work.

This will leave only one stretch of rough pavement on the D. L. D. highway through Lincoln—about three blocks on O street between Twenty-ninth and Thirty-second streets. Mr.
Bryan said he believed arrangements
would be made to have that taken care of this spring.

Plan Much Paving.
Intersections where the railroad crosses H street to the capitol crosses into the north and south streets will be paved soon, Mr. Bryan said.
Cinders have been filled in between the rails on the H street line, he said
but it would be impractical to pave between the rails until the road has been used a while and has settled.
However, some sort of binder will be used to surface the cinders so that they will not be scattered over the streets.

The re-paving of South Twelfth street where the Traction company recently removed its rails will be completed in a few days, Mr. Bryan said, and then the contractor who has that job will proceed with the resurfacing of a number of blocks of downtown streets where the work
had to be abandoned last fall on account of cold weather.

Indications are that the paving and repaving program in Lincoln this year will be one of the largest in the history of the city, Mr. Bryan said.

ARGUMENTS ON BREAD LAW HEARD

Nebraska Supreme Court Listens to Appeal Filed By Omaha Bakers.

Arguments on behalf of Omaha
bakers, assailing the constitutionality of the Smith uniform loaf bread law passed by the legislature of 1921,
were presented before the Nebraska
supreme court Thursday afternoon by M. A. Hall, their attorney. The act was declared to be not only unfair to the bakers but against the interests of the purchasers and consumers of bread.

Assistant Attorney General C. L.
Dort answered the plea of the bakers' counsel, upholding the law as one which protects the public against short weight, leaves without imposing any unreasonable requirement on the manufacturers. He quoted figures showing tests made out by different bakeries, to show that they can easily make loaves of a uniform size, within the two-ounce tolerance which the law allows.

State Representative Ed A. Smith of Omaha, who introduced the bill in the legislature, attended the hearing in supreme court. The case was appealed by the bakers from a decision by Judge Manning in Lancaster county which held the law valid.

receive at par Victory notes of either the 4 1/2 or 3 1/2 per cent series, in 1922, and Victory notes of the 4 1/2

15, 1922.

Victory notes of the 3 1/2 per cent

15, 1922 and registered Victory notes will not be acceptable on any payment.

RUSSIAN REFUSE TO PAY WAR DEBT

Decline to Meet Conditions
Laid Down By Conference
at Genoa.

Announcement Has Effect of Bombshell in Camp
of Allies.

(International News Service.)
GENOA, April 20.—Russia refuses
to recognize the debts contracted by
the czarist government during the
war and later by the Kerensky government. In their answer to the allied demands made public here today
the envoys of soviet Russia asserted
that they cannot meet the conditions
the soviet government sought to justify
its refusal to recognize the war time
debts.

The announcement had the effect
of another bombshell in the allied
camp. Just a few minutes before the Russian answer was made public,
Premier Lloyd George had received
correspondents.

"I am not going to anticipate the
character of the soviet's reply," he
if it is not of such a character that
we can safely proceed with the conference."

No Secret Clauses.
GENOA, April 20.—Russia was rather
naive, head of the German delegation
in a statement today, denied that the
secret clauses.

"Especially there is no clause providing for a military alliance between the two countries," he declared.

"Germany and Russia have agreed,
as a result of conferences, that they
continued. "You cannot make this
too strong. We will maintain the
treaty."

The German leader was indignant
over a rumor that has been spread
to the effect that there has been a split
in the German delegation. The rumor
had it that Chancellor Wirth and Rathenau had split.

"The rumor is absolutely un-
founded," Rathenau said. "The whole
delegation is absolutely unanimous."
Despite Rathenau's positive statement that Russia and Germany had
agreed not to withdraw the treaty
several conference officials professed
today to see the German position
weak. It was declared that the
headquarters of the British delegation that it would not be surprising
if the Germans were to suspend the
treaty for the present or at least
modify some of its provisions. Constant pressure from the allied
spokesmen, it was said, was having
an effect upon the Germans.

Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain was in an optimistic frame
of mind today.

present no further difficulties for the
conference," he said.

CO-EDS CITED TO ANSWER CHARGES MADE BY DOCTOR

CINCINNATI, Ohio, April 20.— Misses Dorothy and Eleanor Gano, prominent in the younger social circle here, were cited to police court this morning to answer charges of "unlawfully making a noise with the horn of an automobile" preferred by Dr. S. E. Gunter, staff physician at a local hospital.

Dr. Gunter charged that the girls, who are co-eds at the University of Cincinnati, stopped their automobile in front of his home
each midnight and "holding down
the push button of their electric automobile horn."

"The old crab is silly," Miss Eleanor indignantly declared when cited to court. "I don't know what he all about, but I do know that we never sound our horn except to summon the night man in the

Operators File Ejection Suits Against Miners

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 20.—Twenty-two ejection suits were filed in Morgantown yesterday by the Rosedale Coal company, operating mines in Monongahela county, this state, and across the line in Pennsylvania, against twenty-two miners occupying company houses. This action, coupled with reports that mine tipples and mining property in the county were being wired for electricity and that mine guards were about to be employed gave rise to the belief that steps were to be taken to resume operations with non-union labor.

CROWDS FLOCK TO SEE "A VIRGIN PARADISE" AT THE ORPHEUM.
Repeating its sensational success in New York at a Broadway theatre, "A Virgin Paradise," the spectacular William Fox special, is enjoying extraordinary popularity at the Orpheum theatre, where it will remain until next Saturday night. The scenic splendor and spectacular magnificence of the production provide an impressive setting for the powerful story of human passion and emotion under unusual circumstances.
In this case far beyond the ordinary, "the play's the thing," the company having been selected to insure the greatest degree of excellence in the production instead of making the chief appeal through the popularity of any of the stars. The play takes precedence in spite of the fact that the all-star cast includes Pearl White, "the best known woman on the screen," and star of many productions. She was selected as the ideal actress for the role of Gratia, the half wild girl who grew up in a jungle with wild animals as her companions and then was transported to civilized society on Long Island, New York. Robert Elliott fitted naturally into the role of "Bob" Alan, the adventurous young American who is the first to come upon the jungle girl on her South Sea island. Alan Edwards is exactly the type and precisely the actor for the role of Bernard Iloit, the fortune hunter, who aspires to marry Gratia. In spite of her jungle nature, for the sake of the $10,000,000 to which she has fallen heir. Other members of the company are as effectively assigned with the result that realism is obtained in the human aspects of the production.

Asks Dismissal of Injunctions Against Packers

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Dismissal or radical modification of the government's injunction against the food distributing business of the great packers is asked by the California Co-operative Canneries in a petition pending today in the district of Columbia supreme court.
The petition, filed yesterday, charges influence was brought to bear on former Attorney General Palmer by the National Wholesale Grocers' association and the Southern Wholesale Grocers' association, to obtain the injunction and that he misused grand jury processes to obtain information for use in getting it.
The injunction is described as a disastrous economic mistake, placing a monopoly in the hands of wholesale grocers' associations.

WRAY'S MOVE IS TERMED TREASON BY LABOR LEADER

Ellsberry Sees Attempt to Crucify New Party on the "Mullen-Made Cross."

Grand Island Man Calls on Progressives to Shun
Mr. Norton.

Treason to the progressive party and an attempt to crucify it on a Mullen-made cross are charged against Arthur G. Wray in a statement given out by Mayor T. J. Ellsberry of Grand Island, bitterly criticizing Wray's withdrawal as a candidate for governor in favor of J. N. Norton and his announcement that he will run for United States senator instead.

Ellsberry is an organized labor leader and his utterances are taken to voice the sentiments of that element in the third party. His attack on Wray follows a severe criticism of Wray's fusion plan by Frank M. Coffey of Lincoln, another well known labor leader, published last week in Coffey's column of the third party's state organ, which has otherwise shown a friendly attitude toward the scheme.

The Grand Island man calls on progressives to shun Norton, get new gubernatorial candidate of their own and stand by A. H. Bigelow of Omaha as their candidate for United States senator.

He says that Wray has been seduced from the straight and narrow path of political righteousness, trodden only by third party progressives, by the glamor of a United States senatorship dangled before his eyes. This is an illusory prospect, however, Ellsberry asserts, because if Wray were named on the progressive ticket and R. B. Howell on the republican it would divide the progressive vote and insure the reelection of Senator Nitchcock.

May Run Taylor for Governor

W. J. Taylor of Merna, who was the first to break out in print against the Norton-Wray combination, may be brought out as a gubernatorial candidate by those opposing it.

Following is what Mayor Ellsberry has to say on the subject. "Benedict Arnold betrayed. Judas betrayed the Christ for thirty pieces of silver. From the time when history was young, men have betrayed their comrades, their fellow toilers. Men whose souls could be purchased for a thin dime have from time immemorial started something with treachery.

"The traitorism of Arnold swept the country with a wave of indignation, that perhaps started the British toward Yorktown, and America was born. The baseness of Judas lighted the fire of Christianity which swept the world.

"The progressive party, born of the stress and of the trials of the common people, designed to bring back to these people the rights and liberties that had been taken from them by machine politics, now faces its hour of trial. The cunning hand of the political assassin has struck. Our leader, befuddled and beguiled by the whispers of 'strictly' and 'expediency' has apparently consented to the crucifying of the progressive party upon a Mullen-made cross.

Wray Can't Win Senatorship

"The senate, goal of many a weary pilgrim through the jungles of politics, loomed before the dazzled eye of our man! With the progressive split between Lowell and Wray does it take a blind man to see Hitchcock victorious? Mr. Norton filed for governor upon the democratic-progressive ticket of a kind of a hybrid is a progressive-democrat or a progressive-republican? Do you ever hear of a republican-democrat or vice versa? Can a man ask the support of honest men, claiming two party affiliations? Can a man carry water on both shoulders and his head at the same time? believe not.

EPWORTH LEAGUE OFFICIAL OFF ON TRIP TO EUROPE

"More than three-fourths of the delegates to the Grand Island convention were pledged against fusion or the acceptance of a fusion candidate. As a delegate and a member of the committee that framed the platform of the Grand Island convention, I know that fusion were absolutely unacceptable to the men and women who made up that convention. Mr. Edmiston knew that Mr. Sorenson knew it. Mr. Wray knew it.

"The Hall, Douglas, Platte and Adams county delegations, numbering over two hundred men and women, were solidly against fusion in any form. They were, and are, also solidly opposed to bossism in any form, as perhaps Messrs. Sorenson, Edmiston and Wray will find out to their sorrow. If Mr. Wray basely deserts his comrades on the state ticket, leaving them to flounder leaderless to certain defeat, how can he expect the support of those whom he has deserted? I personally would rather vote for and aid my bitterest political foe who was open and honest in his enmity, than an erstwhile friend who had changed his coat for the sake of expediency."

"Mr. Anson H. Bigelow is a candidate for United States senator on the progressive ticket. The progressives who love fair play and detest any sort of chicanery will do well to support him. He cannot be lured onto the rocks by the Lincoln sirens.

"There is yet time to fill Mr. Wray's place on the state ticket. The knife that has so nearly reached the vitals of the progressive party should only serve as a spur, to prick the cunning hand of the political assassin has struck. Our leader, befuddled and beguiled by the whispers of 'strictly' and 'expediency' has apparently consented to the crucifying of the progressive party upon a Mullen-made cross."

Dr. French Speaks
at Banquet Held
By Lincoln S. A. R.

The Sons of the American Revolution held a banquet at the Grand hotel Wednesday evening in honor of the anniversary of the battle of Lexington, fought April 19, 1775. Dr. Calvin H. French, president of Hastings college, gave the principal address.

After narrating the events of the battle of Lexington, fought for the cause of democracy, Dr. French called attention to certain modern conditions that he said are handicapping democracy. He pointed out neglect of civic duties by many people, the conditions among the foreign laboring class and the provincial attitude of some of the congressmen.

Other speakers were L. G. Baker and Dr. J. W. Hilton, pastor. John F. Russell presided.

CHAPTER LXXXVIII.

If Mrs. Ovington had hoped to produce a startling impression by her announcement, she was disappointed. She did not know that Helen Gorman was learning to conceal from her all evidences of her inward feelings.

"Thank you, Mrs. Ovington," the girl said now gravely. "I am much obliged to you for bringing me the message. The person who telephoned me is not waiting for an answer, is he?"

"No, I simply told him I would tell you what he said, and that if you wished to communicate further with him, you could telephone from here."

"Thank you," Helen said. "There was a silence as Helen picked up her coat and began to put it on. "Let me hold it for you!" the landlady insisted, seizing the garment.

"My dear, I am sorry for your anxiety. I wish I could help you. Is your uncle to be in town long?"

"If do not know," Helen replied. "The gleam of curiosity in the sharp eyes gazed Helen to sudden speech. "The man who informed you that he was my cousin, Mrs. Ovington, was no relation of mine."

"Startling information," Helen said. "You may remember that I told you I knew nothing of him when he came here. I took it for granted that the story you believed must be a true one. It was not. It was a lie."

"Mrs. Ovington dropped into the nearest chair. "The man was an impostor!" she exclaimed. "Oh, how could that be? If you do not remember your cousin, how can you be sure that was not he?"

"It was evident that the widow suspected the girl was trying to evade any responsibility for the young man's dishonest actions. Helen perceived this suspicion."

"I know that the man who fooled you—and me—was no relative of mine," she reiterated. "Moreover, I also know that he is a scoundrel."

"But," Mrs. Ovington argued, "where is your cousin, then?" "He is dead," was the curt reply. "As she started down the stairs her landlady called after her."

"Oh, Miss Gorman! Don't you want to use my telephone before you go out? You are quite welcome to call up your uncle's hotel from here if you want to."

"Thank you—no," the girl replied. "I can telephone from a drug store if necessary. I do not know that I shall decide to do so on that yet."

"Harrowing Thoughts," Helen said. "She preferred going straight to Mr. Berry's and talking to Miss Dallymple before coming to any further decision."

But she would not satisfy her inquisitive landlady's curiosity by telling her this. She cherished towards her a subtle resentment which she told herself was unreasonable."

"She waited at the store, without removing her hat or coat, until Miss Dallymple arrived. Then she explained the situation to her."

"I do not know just how ill my uncle is," she said. "Nor if I can come down this afternoon. If he is very ill I may have to remain with him. But as soon as I can persuade him to have a nurse I will be back here."

"That is all right," Miss Dallymple said kindly. "Do not feel that you must return here until it is quite safe to leave your uncle."

"Safe! Until this instant it had not occurred to Helen that her uncle might be critically ill. Surely this could not be the case!"

"She took the same route that she had traveled last night to the town hotel. She was sorry for her uncle's illness—intensely sorry. Yet, for her, it was a relief to have something to occupy her mind so that it would be impossible for her to recall too often that this was Tom Andrews' wedding day.

It was a lovely day on which to be married. Or, were they married yesterday, and sailing for Europe today? Were Tom and Betty already man and wife?

She almost ran from the bus to the hotel—so eager was she to silence this haunting and torturing suggestion. (To Be Continued).

RULING IN FAVOR OF MUNICIPALITY

High Court Relieves Omaha of Liability on Judgment for $6,800.

Hastings Citizens Lose Fight Against Paying Special Paving Tax.

The city of Omaha is relieved of liability on a judgment for $6,800 entered against it in the district court of Douglas county, in an opinion handed down by the supreme court Wednesday. The high tribunal says that the trial court should have directed a judgment in favor of the municipality. The plaintiff in the action was Sarah Johnson, administratrix of the estate of Morris Johnson, and the city was sued jointly with Ernest Moschel, the judgment running against both defendants.

Morris Johnson was driving an automobile at Eighteenth and Cass streets in Omaha when his car was struck by one driven by Moschel and thrown against a fire truck which was being returned from a repair shop and was not on an emergency run. Johnson was killed and his administration charged negligence upon the part of both defendants. It was alleged that the fire truck was running at the rate of eighteen miles an hour and was not under control.

It was shown that Johnson was also driving at the rate of eighteen miles an hour, and the court holds that the speed of the fire truck was not in violation of either the statute or the ordinance. Even if it had been such violation is not negligence per se, such negligence depending upon the circumstances in each individual case. The scene of the accident was not in the congested business district. The jury returned a verdict for $6,800 against both defendants.

Must Pay Paving Tax. Henry Kister and other citizens of the city of Hastings who sought to enjoin the collection of a special paving tax against their property objected to appear before the city court when it sat as a board of equalization on this paving district and their voice their objections. They were therefore stopped from bringing an action at a later day to enjoin collection.

This is the opinion of the supreme court. The plaintiffs petitioned for the creation of the paving district and while the work was in progress certain changes were made in the original plans. After the work had been done and the tax had been levied, the plaintiffs sought to enjoin the collection, but the court holds that they had signed away their day in grace and must now pay.

Liability Limited. A telephone company making an error in the transmission of a message is only liable for damages in the sum of $50, this being in accordance with the contract printed on the back of its blanks. A. C. Dunning, a grain operator at Shelby sent an offer to sell grain at a certain price to a firm at Pueblo, Col., and later received a message signed by another Pueblo firm, ordering a carload at the price mentioned. The grain was shipped but not accepted by the firm whose name had been signed to the message and to whom shipment had been made. The telephone company had made an error in the signature and Dunning lost $225. He sued the Western Union for this amount and was given judgment, but this is reversed by the supreme court, which directs the trial court to cut the amount to $50. The federal court has construed the law on this subject and the state tribunal says that this controls.

Judgment Against Company. George W. Vest is entitled to a judgment for $1,000 against the Farmers Co-operative Elevator company of Lumberton, but not against Fred Borman, president of the company, and Walter, secretary. He sued all of these parties and the court directed a verdict for defendants. The supreme tribunal says that judgment should be entered against the company and in favor of the two officers. The plaintiff alleged that he was induced through fraudulent misrepresentations upon the part of the manager of the company, John Bohn, to invest in the stock of the company, which proved to be worthless. It was not shown that Borman and Walter knew of the sale or had anything to do with it. They were accordingly released. Defendants claimed that plaintiff had not elected in time to rescind his contract, but the court finds that he used due diligence.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is injurious as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else as to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup of glass with a little warm water is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.—Advertisement.

AILING WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Linton Tells How Helpful Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is at This Period

Denver, Colorado.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for seven years and cannot tell you the good it has done me. It is good for young and old and I always keep a bottle of it in the house, for I am at that time of life when it calls for Lydia E. Pinkham's help. My husband saw your ad. in the papers and said: 'You have taken everything you can think of, now I want you to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I let him get it, and I soon felt better and he told me 'I want you to take about six bottles.' So I did and I keep house and do all my own work and work out by the day and feel fine now. I tell every one about the Vegetable Compound, for so many of my friends thought I wouldn't get well."—Mrs. R. J. Linton, 1850 West 33d Avenue, Denver, Colorado.

After reading letters like the above, and we are constantly publishing them, why should any woman hesitate to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she is in need of help? It brings relief where other medicines fail.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight. If you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients are sold annually, say a well known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

These whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful. This is the age of youth. Grayed around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Advertisement.

Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves them and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two days, and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a week. Mr. James H. Allen, of Congress Avenue, Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of ALLENRHU, who for many years suffered the tortures of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless AllenRhu shows immediate results, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee one full pint bottle for every instance. Dancer Receives Blackmail Note Demanding $10,000

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—Los Angeles postal authorities last night were investigating a letter sent to Theodor Kosloff, dancer, demanding $10,000, under threat of death. The writer of the letter specified a place where the money was to be left at a time which has elapsed. Kosloff, instead of leaving the money, purchased a pistol which he said he was carrying with him wherever he went. The letter contained the statement that a similar demand and threat had been sent to Mabel Normand, motion picture actress. Miss Normand said she had not received the communication.

The Great American Dessert

KINGSFORD'S CORN STARCH PUDDING

2 cups scalded Milk 1/4 cup Sugar 2 Eggs 1/4 teaspoon Salt
4 level tablespoons Kingsford's Corn Starch 1/4 teaspoon Vanilla
1 oz. Chocolate melted (optional)

Mix the corn starch with a little cold milk. Stir the hot milk slowly into the corn starch and stir over water till it thickens. Cook fifteen minutes. Beat the eggs slightly, add the sugar and salt. Add the corn starch mixture to the eggs, and cook, stirring constantly, one minute longer. Remove from fire, add the vanilla or melted chocolate as desired. Serve cold with cream and sugar. (Serves six persons.)

It is not necessary to purchase both a bread and a pastry flour. By using quarter cup of Kingsford's Corn Starch to three-quarter cup of any good flour the percentage of gluten is decreased and the starch content increased so that home prepared flour will make a lighter and finer grained cake.

FREE: Ask your grocer or write Corn Products Sales Co., 8th and Jackson Sts., Omaha, Neb., for a beautiful folder of the Kingsford Corn Starch recipes.

Women From All Americas Gather For Conferences

BALTIMORE, April 20.—Responding to the call of the National League of Women Voters, women from all the Americas, assembled here today in conference on subjects of special concern to women—education, child welfare, women in industry, prevention of traffic in women, civil and political status of women and international friendliness.

The league believes that friendliness with our neighboring countries will be stimulated and strengthened when women from all parts of the western hemisphere come together for sympathetic study of their common problems.

The conference will continue through Sunday and will be followed Monday by the regular annual convention of the National League of Women Voters, which will last all of next week.

Wealthy Farmer and Wife Found Slain in Home

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 20.—The mutilated bodies of J. W. Hunt and wife, each about 72 years old, were found at their farm home near Buffalo, near here late yesterday. The aged couple had not been seen since Thursday. Robbery is believed to have been the motive for the double murder, as the farmer was considered quite wealthy.

Probst Victor in an Examination As to His Sanity

NEW YORK, April 20.—August Probst, Swiss butler, who charged he was being railroaded out of the country because he had a love affair with a society girl at the Rolling Rock club, just outside Pittsburgh, won a victory in his special examination on Ellis Island. Bernard H. Sander, his counsel, declared today. Probst was not confirmed insane in the first finding of the board, which heard his case, his counsel said.

His attorney said he had telegraphed to Secretary of Labor Davis asking that he be heard before any final order is issued in the case. The special board found Probst sane in time to the country illegally, and at that time, seemed likely to become a public charge. Mr. Davis will pass on deportation orders.

PITTSBURGH, April 20.—Claims of an advance of bituminous coal prices were made yesterday by P. T. Farber, a United Mine Workers' official. THE AMERICAN LANGUAGE FOR NEBRASKA.

So far as the courts of the state of Nebraska are concerned, the American language law will be the law of the land. The state supreme court yesterday upheld the Reed-Norval act. It had recently upheld the Siman law and the only possible reverse which could come to the Americanization program in Nebraska would be a decision from the United States supreme court contrary to the state high court.
The underlying motive of the language law, and the state court has sympathized with this motive, is to make the American language the mother tongue of all American children. For a child to be able to speak French, or Swedish or German will not, of course, lessen his Americanism if he has first been taught the American language as his mother tongue. The child should not only read and speak the American language, he should think in the American language.
When a language not American is taught and spoken in the house and the child is sent to school to learn the American language. It too frequently happens that to the child, as well as to the parent, the American language is the "foreign" tongue. To prevent this is the aim of the language law. It is hoped and believed that the day will come when Americans shall no longer need a language law, but at the present time, the very fact that there is opposition is just cause for such a law.

THE RUSSIAN PROBLEM.
A short time ago the Russian problem stared us in the face, a great and perplexing problem of government and morals. We read long articles from writers in Russia on the equity or injustice of bolshevism, we were horribly shocked by such things as the nationalization of women and the banishing of religion. We worried a great deal and did little about it. At that time the nation which had goods to sell found a ready market in plenty places and Russia really didn't amount to much on the rialso.
But times have changed; ready markets are not so easily found, and while Russia does not have money, she has rich resources. The world is forgetting about the ethics of bolshevism and is thinking about the possibilities of doing business with Russia. The problem is to capitalize these future resources of Russia so that other nations may sell her goods which she needs.
Russian officials have proposed a system of concessions, which is described as follows by the New York World: "The property is to be inviolate. The holder of the concession is to manage the enterprise freely and to dispose of the product as he sees fit, except that he must pay a percentage to the Russian government as rent and may have to sell a certain definite amount more to the government. Labor is the subject of another contract with the Trades-Union Council, and the contract specifies that the wage must be not less than the average in other countries."

ONLY A HORSE.
It is one of the regrettable changes brought about by the automobile age that friendships between man and horse are inevitably diminished. With the possible exception of his faithful worshipper, the dog, there is no dumb animal which man comes so near understanding and loving as a horse.
From Catawissa, Pa., comes the story of Clover, a horse which has reached the remarkable age of fifty-one. In the days when the Civil war was only yesterday, Clover clipped a mile in 2:17 flat, pulling a high wheel sulky. He was a four-year-old pacer then. Some fifteen years later when his apparent usefulness began to fade and his legs told of his earlier career on the track, one Rev. Meyers of Catawissa purchased him for his personal use. That was in 1887. The years that followed were happy ones for Clover. The pastor treated him kindly, fed him well and worked him only enough to furnish exercise. Clover began to grow young again and performed his services faithfully as long as his kind owner needed him.
In fact, old age seemed to overtake the master before it did the horse, and the story becomes melodramatic. Rev. Meyers, now seventy-five years old, became too feeble and too poor to take care of Clover. The aged owner worried lest he should be compelled to part with his faithful horse, but, as in the last act of all melodramas, good fortune arrived. Friends heard of the pastor's predicament and a generous subscription was taken with the result that old Clover's "room and board" is provided for as long as he lives and the feeble master need not part with his beloved companion.
There are those who will understand the sentiment of this true story of Clover and his master. They are the ones who have kindness in their hearts and who see the greatest happiness in life. There are those who call it tommy-rot and fate help them, for they get but little of the sunshine out of living.

ARBOR DAY.
Saturday will be observed throughout the United States as Arbor day. President Harding, by proclamation, has made April 23 a day for nation-wide observance of the golden anniversary of the day set aside for tree planting by J. Sterling Morton in 1872 in Nebraska.
There are many material reasons why the spirit of Arbor day should be carried out. Through negligence and lack of foresight, the American people have permitted their natural forests to vanish and the time is at hand when great forests should be planted and cultivated.
"But," to quote the Omaha World-Herald, "we value trees for something else than for their utility. Their beauty, strength and grace speak a language rich in meaning. Scattered here and there they are silently working like an empire of men, who reflect their worth in action. They make no startling stories for the papers of crime and vice but firmly rooted in the earth they press toward the sky; and, though speechless, they proclaim life's beneficence."

And so, happily, Arbor day may mean something more to us than the material necessity of planting new forests. It would be a noble act if this Saturday every family would plant a tree, or even a bush, and commemorate the deed to a more worthy life. And what more fitting verse could be read upon the occasion than that immortal poem by the late Joyce Kilmer:
I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.
A tree whose hungry mouth is prest
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast;
A tree that looks at God all day,
And lifts her leafy arms to pray;
A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;
Upon whose bosom snow has lain,
Who intimately lives with rain.
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.

Comment by the Press

THE ROADS OF THE HORSEMEN.
The tragedy of hungry Russia is as old as the oldest records of that unhappy land. For centuries the Four Horsemen have ridden with bridles scurched through its sordid cities, its dirty little villages, and its drab, somber countryside. Its present rulers, attempting to make practical certain theories of advanced socialism, doubtless have contributed to the present heart-rending, hopeless which lies before the Alusovite world. They have been aptly described as "a combination of bandits and idiots."
But in the dramatic sorrows of the great hinterland both of European civilization and Asiatic barbarism they are only an incident. The people of Russia have starved from days beyond writing record. They have no "good old times when every peasant had a chicken in his pot on Sunday."

For instance, in 1575 we have an account of a Russian famine from the pen of an English traveler which, with the accurate spelling changed, might almost be incorporated into a news dispatch from the Volga area today. It was written by Anthony Jenkinson, a representative of the Russian company, who bore letters from Queen Elizabeth to Ivan the Terrible, in Moscow.
"And now," wrote Jenkinson to Lord Burghley on August 28, "we make a few arrangements in his spelling for clarity's sake," "somewhat touching the state of this country. God hath plagued it many ways; firstly by famine that the people have been enforced to eat bread made of bark of trees, besides many unclean things, yea, and it is reported for certainty that in some places they have eaten wither the Also the Prynce hath by sundry torments, putt to death a greave number of his people, chieflly of his nobility, gentlemen, and pryncpall merchants. Further, the plague hath consumed (by credible reports) this laste year about 300,000. Besides all this the Crymmeas, a valyante nation of Tartars, in the latter ende of May laste invaded this realme, gave the Prynce an overthrow in the fieldes, caused him to retire, burnte and consumed all the country before them and came to the citty of Musko, sett fyre over the same, not leavinge one house standing, and few people are now escaped. The more away captives by the said Crymmeas, is thought to be above 300,000."—Washington Herald.

THE PARADOX OF MODERN INDUSTRY.
B. S. Rowntree, a well known writer on economic subjects, notes the contrast between the solution of technical problems in industry and the way in which they approach labor difficulties. The perfection of technical skill in modern industry stands in marked contrast to the bungling industrial relations. And this is the paradox of industry today.
Scientific research is the key to much of the progress in industrial accomplishment. Most large plants have their well equipped laboratories, manned by experts bent on perfecting the processes of production. The story of this long and patient research reads like a romance. Bleaching, the perfecting of dyes, photography, print paper, the vulcanization of rubber, the incandescent lamp, the motor, the use of oxygen gas, wireless waves and voltage transmission, the airplane and countless other discoveries and improvements, attest the triumph of scientific industrial research. Every year in this country thirty thousand inventions are patented, most of them the result of extended industrial research. From cost finding to flying, one may follow the marvelous record.
When one turns to the field of industrial relations, involving adjustments between capital and labor, the record is as stark, and in contrast to the economic depression and unemployment are periodical. Hundreds of strikes strikes ever ear take a heavy toll from production, while lockouts, boycotts and sabotage witness to maladjustments in the human realm of industry. The pendulum swings from over-production to scarcity, while people flock to the cities and leave the rural districts.—Minneapolis Journal.

A Bit of Homely Philosophy

IN BUSINESS MATTERS, LOOK WELL BEFORE YOU LEAP.
You must take some chances if you win out.
No line of business is a sure thing from the start.
Therefore if you wait till you are absolutely sure you will wait forever.
On the other hand, you should not go to the other extreme of rushing into something which a casual inspection indicates as a worthy undertaking.
Do some figuring and a lot of thinking before you invest your money.
Lay your plans along a sane course, making allowance for unexpected demands and a certain degree of misfortune.
In your own mind there should be a clearly marked goal and a definite course leading up to it.
Don't go into anything just because your best friend does, when you cannot see a landing place for your own affairs where it should be.
Taking chances that "things will come out all right" is one of the principal reasons why so many careers have been wrecked financially.
There is no sure course to wealth and success. You must realize that you have to take some chances, but an intelligent survey for yourself with your own possibilities and needs in view, should be taken by yourself for yourself, regardless of what the other man may say.

More Truth than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER
WHEN APRIL COMES.
Why are envying the great
For the deathless fame they won?
There is Homer; I would hate
To be in his place, my son.
You have seen his bust indeed,
What he wrote so long ago;
You have seen his bust indeed,
Somewhere in a marble row.
Oh, I grant you he wrote well,
But he cannot hear applause,
And I challenge you to tell What your Homer's first name was.
Ferdinand and Isabel Worried over debts no more,
May have gone away to dwell
On some far celestial shore.
This, of course, is by a guess,
No one ever can be sure;
They may daily more or less
Over pleasures that are pure,
But I much prefer to be Still alive and listening
When the first fragrant
Pipe the coming of the spring.
Virgil, Dante, Shakespeare, each
Is a deathless, glowing name;
You and I may never reach
Even their lofty fame.
I admit that I would give Much to write one deathless song—
One that would be sure to live
After I've been buried long.
But if fame shall e'en my plea,
Still there's music for my ear:
Best of all things is to be
In the world when April's here.

Peaches and Persimmons

Sir: How can we expect any other kind of weather when "If Winter Comes" has been the best seller for the past six months? But what I started out to say was that last Saturday Friend Wife sallied forth to purchase an Easter hat. In one place she had her old hat aside and began looking over new ones. When she returned to the counter where she had put her old hat, two women were arguing over it, trying to decide which one had the right to buy it as both wanted it. They thought it was on sale with the rest of the hats.—KAY JAY.

THEY CAMP OUT.

(New York Times.)
According to the spokesmen for a Tenant's league in Chicago, at least 10,000 families there will make this summer an effective protest against high rents by quitting the apartments they now occupy and camping out in "the forest preserves around the city." Those who know the region around Chicago only from what they see when entering it by train will find this reference to "forest preserves" more surprising than the proposed resort to tent life. That way of passing the hot season, indeed, has long been familiar to a good many more than 10,000 New York families, though the fact probably is known only to the campers and to the not many others who happen into the rather sequestered places where the little summer towns are erected.
There are a score or more of them, however, scattered along both sides of Long Island, on the banks of the Hudson, on the mainland side of the sound from City Island, northward, and inland both in New Jersey and Westchester county.

Rambling through Nebraska.

By C. DURANT JONES.
While the banking situation all over the state has greatly improved in the past few months and many banks are in a healthy and comfortable condition, we must not be too much disappointed at the occasional bank failure, for all the banks are not yet out of the wilderness. A state bank examiner tells the lamplighter that there may be a number of failures, but he has returned to normal conditions. While the war funds helped a great many bad situations, a peculiarity of the present problem is that in some few instances the war finance money proved to be an injury. An occasional banker looked upon the fund as an opportunity for further loans, and the money was used in that way. The examiner says that in such cases the war finance fund may be the means of hastening the bank's downfall. Most banks are in good condition, although some few were compelled to make heavy assessments upon the stock in order to tide them over, and there will be comparative few failures from now on.

The Northwest Nebraska Hereford Breeders' association held its sixth annual sale of registered Herefords at Valentine a few days ago, and the results of the sale are highly encouraging. The cattle men of the northern part of the state. Sixty animals were sold and the prices were especially good. The bidding was spirited and the stockmen were characterized by their spirit of optimism. The sale was much better in every way than the one held last year, and everything seems to indicate that the cattle business in the northwest is on the up-grade. As a class, the cattle men were among those hit the hardest in the era of financial depression, but they are full of courage and the recovery of that great section is going to be steady and sure.

There is a pretty live community club at Alnsworth, to which about all the business men belong. And when anything is undertaken, they are pretty likely to put it over in good shape. The Rambler had the privilege a few evenings ago of sitting down to dinner with about a hundred of the Alnsworth business leaders at one of their luncheons, and the occasion was an enjoyable one. The petty jealousies so often found in towns were notably lacking and a spirit of good fellowship prevailed. George Whitely is president, T. E. Baldwin is secretary. BEET FIELD WORKERS

Alliance, Neb., Herald.)
Most of our good friends who edit newspapers over in the valley have, at one time or another, been considerably exercised over what they term the unwarranted interference and general nosiness of officials of the state child welfare bureau, who have been time to time unsympathetic to the child workers in the beet fields receive adequate schooling and be given the same advantages as other youths. Probably a good deal of the opposition was due to the manner in which the officials went to work to accomplish the reforms they desired. But the fact remains that it's little enough that the children of the beet workers get out of the industry, and that to date, they haven't had any protection to speak of. The national child labor committee and the federal children's bureau have made extensive investigations, and while Nebraska hasn't figured in these investigations prominently, if conditions here are the same as they are in Colorado, Michigan and other places, and there is no reason to doubt it, we suggest humbly that in their anxiety to put the noses of the Nebraska child welfare officials out of joint, our friends of the press take care not to endorse the evil.
In Colorado alone, one of the most important beet sugar states, the national child labor committee found 5,000 children between the ages of six and fifteen years, practically all of them parents, regularly engaged in the cultivation of sugar beets.
From the time the beets are in the ground until they are delivered at the factory, the hardest kind of manual labor is required, and much of this is done by small children. These children spend long hours on their hands and knees weeding and thinning the beets. Then when the beets are harvested they spend more long, hard hours lifting the heavy roots to their knees and with a wire sweep or a dangerously sharp knife cut off the tops.
The Federal Children's bureau made an intensive study of the Colorado situation. Of 1,077 included

CHAPTER 621.

I don't see how I finished my evening with Mabel Storrs without betraying that I was out of patience with her in particular and with the world in general. Her failure to adjust herself to Carolina was bad enough; but her flat refusal to put herself right with Rosa Cordova inclined me to fly out at her in most unwholesome-like fashion.

When she thanked me for a pleasant evening and left, there was a certain constraint between us which certainly wasn't my fault. But, knowing Mabel as I do, I'm not inclined now to blame her, either.

Neither Mabel nor Rosa nor Carolina was permitted to claim my full attention, however. Even my business had to be pushed into the background. The one big, outstanding fact in my life, from the moment I said good night to Carolina and was free to think of what I chose, was this:

"I'm meeting Virginia tomorrow for lunch. After snubbing me unmercifully, she has sought me out. I wanted to go to her—for Jim's sake—but she came to me first."

With this in mind I went through the motions of attending to my own business affairs next morning and taking part in the conference with Mabel and Rosa in Jim's office without once completely forgetting what I had ahead.

Would the meeting with Virginia be an ordeal? Would it pass off lightly and casually without any "high spots"? Or would it bring us into such close accord that we could never again drift as far apart as we've been since Phoebe's elopement with Neal loosed the tides of Virginia's fury against me?

Even now that the meeting is an accomplished fact, I don't know the answer to own question.

My appointment with Virginia was for one-thirty, but I hurried to the tea room via taxi in order to be first. I wanted to locate myself at a table under one of the friendly red umbrellas out in the pebbled garden of the tea room. Then when Virginia came I planned to look up casually, wave my hand lightly and greet her from the vantage point of my established position.

My cab drove up to the little brick entrance of the tea-room. I had the fare ready, and as I reached through the window to give it to the driver I saw Virginia step from a New ahead. Perhaps she'd also planned to use the advantage of arriving first.

"How do you do, Anne?" she cried, swinging round with a smile which took a bit of the formality from her stiff little greeting. "Very well. How do you do? I said, smiling in turn. Then something impish deep in me boiled to the surface and, ignoring the fact that it was the snubish Virginia I spoke, I burst out with a confession:

"What I'd like to reply, like a little street-gamin with mouth drooping at one corner, is, 'Fine. How's yourself?'"

Virginia held out her hand and, with complete sobriety, said the most incongruous thing I've ever heard issue from her well-cut lips: "Great. Put it here!"

Without a quiver of facial muscles or a twinge to my sense of humor, I returned her clasp. We shook hands solemnly. Then we stood stock-still there on the sidewalk and we howled. Nothing else will do to describe the peals of laughter which shook us both. Yet everything's settled. We needn't go in for lunch. I managed at last. Virginia looked at me impishly.

"Are you beginning again?" she drawled. "Trying to do me out of my lunch?"

At that moment like this haven't you a mind above such mundane things as food?" I demanded.

"I have not. Not—Mrs. Patrick Dalton, see Harrison—Me! parodied Virginia gaily. "Lead on, love your local-colorish, little tea-room. And if it purveys a delicious crisp salad and some bracing coffee, 'I curl down and purr.'"

"Purr like a contented kitty if you like. That's pleasant noise. Just so you don't pay at the moon—I flung back as I led the way through the antique shop to the quiet and resplendent little pebbled garden where the city is shut out.

I felt as if I were walking in a dream. It didn't seem possible that Virginia and I were actually exchanging little jokes. By no stretch of the imagination could I have figured that the dread interview would be like this.

I had planned the front of my dignity with which I would meet Virginia. Then had veered to a visioning of myself as sweetly gracious and grande dame in a manner no Harrison could outdo.

I'd cherished in the back of my mind a desire for justification—for apology due me from the woman who had affronted me and insulted me and my family. I'd been ready to forgive with a large gesture of condescension after being duly placated. And here I was joining Virginia in conduct which might fit the end of a feud between two little gamins of the streets.

When we had found places under a red umbrella, Virginia looked around with an air of belonging. "How charming!" she said, like a bit of old Paris. But will love it. Thank you for coming—thank you for—letting me come."

Her eyes sought mine almost shyly—with a look of pleading. "I'm glad you like it," I said without meaning to drift back into stiffness. "And the salads are delicious. So everything is as we would have it—shall I say 'hunky-dory'?"

"Oh, please say that!" cried Virginia. "Let's keep to our delicious giggly mood. If we don't I'll have to say so many things I'd rather have you take for granted—if you can."

Pastures Are Often Damaged by Turning in Stock Too Early

Holding live stock off pasture lands in Nebraska a trifle longer will more than repay in the summer returns, as pasturing too early frequently cuts down the growth of the grass during the entire season, according to the agricultural college.

When spring work starts on the farm, there is less time to do chores, says the college, which adds:

"The grass blade in the laboratory of the plant and too early and too close pasturing destroys this laboratory which makes the food necessary for the development and life of the root system. Not only does close pasturing weaken the grass, but it exposes the soil to the hot sun, which causes it to become dry and hard. This weakened condition permits weeds to come in and in a season or two the pasture is full of weeds."

"Vampire Complexion" Is Natural, She Says

They say of a certain well-known dancer that she has a "vampire complexion." It is so bewitchingly beautiful. Yet to intimate friends she has confessed that she abhors make-up and that her complexion is really natural.

Her secret is—ordinary mercurized wax. She spreads a thin coat of the wax over her face at night, without rubbing it in, and takes it off with warm water upon arising. This simple application actually absorbs the dead particles of scarf skin which daily appear, and a fair, soft, fresh, girlish skin is always in evidence. The complexion is kept perpetually young by preventing the accumulation of the aging and lifeless cuticle.

As mercurized wax is obtainable at any drug store, and as an ounce is sufficient to rejuvenate even the worst complexion, anyone may enjoy the benefits of this remarkable beauty secret. There's nothing more effective for freckles, liver spots, moth patches, pimples and unwholesome skin generally.

MANY TREES LOST BY CARELESSNESS WHEN REPLANTING

Roots Must Be Protected From Exposure While Out of Ground.

Improper planting or careless handling of trees before planting is partly responsible for a large proportion of newly planted trees dying the first year, according to horticulturists of the college of agriculture.

The roots of the trees should be protected from exposure to sun and wind during the planting operation, these horticulturists say, which may be done by wrapping them in wet gunny sacks or placing them in a barrel or pail of thin mud.

The important things to bear in mind in planting trees, according to the horticulturists, are:

"The hole must be large enough to receive the roots without cramping and deep enough so that the tree will stand three or four inches deeper than it was in the nursery. Some loose, moist, surface dirt should be placed in the bottom of the hole.

Should Lean to Southwest.

"The trees should be inserted in the hole so that the lowest permanent branch would be on the southwest side of the tree and the tree leaned to that side to counteract the tendency to grow to the north.

"The dirt should be firmed by tamping at least twice during planting process. In order to pack the soil firmly about the roots, at least two or three inches should be left unpacked as a mulch."

The mistake frequently is made in planting trees and other plants of not getting the soil firmly packed about the roots or allowing air spaces about the roots, state the horticulturists. This may be prevented by shaking the tree up and down as the first dirt is applied.

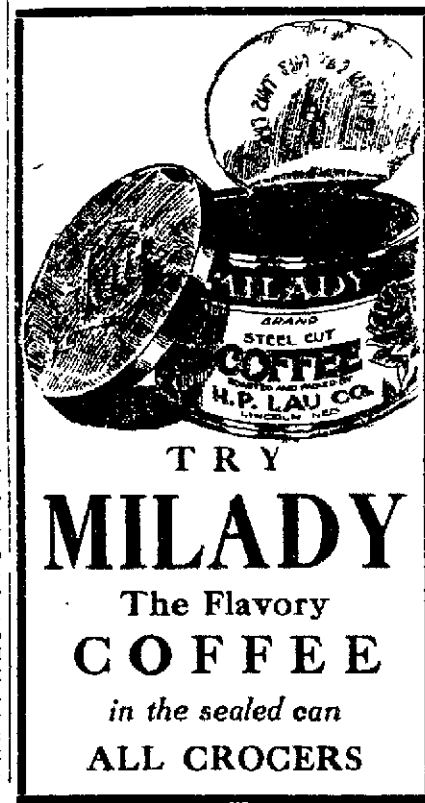

Turning to tree pruning, the horticulturists advise that pruning should begin when they are planted leaving two or three branches in addition to the central leader. The lowest of these branches should be on the southwest side to prevent sun scald and should be four or five inches apart and on different sides of the trunk in order to avoid crotches, they declare.

Naval Bureau Has Designed Universal Radio Amplifier

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Secretary Denby announced that the Bureau of engineering of the navy department has successfully designed a universal amplifier for radio communication and other similar purposes. Hereafter, it is explained, obtainable amplifier would amplify only incoming signals over a narrow band of wave lengths, but now Dr. J. M. Miller of the navy radio research laboratory has constructed a six-stage amplifier which gives practically the same amplification from a lower limit of several hundred meters to an upper limit in the neighborhood of 20,000 meters.

ORGANIZE A TAX REDUCTION CLUB.
Citizens of Stevens Creek Precinct First to Get Together.
Stevens Creek precinct, Lancaster county, is the first community in Nebraska to call a meeting for the organization of a "tax reduction club" as suggested by Chairman Edmisten of the third party progressive state committee. Voters of that precinct have been invited to meet in the Prairie Home church at 8 o'clock Sunday evening. Chairman Edmisten and F. M. Coffey of Lincoln will be among the speakers.
In a statement given out Thursday, Mr. Edmisten, says that the question of lowering taxes will be presented to the people of Nebraska through such clubs all over the state. He criticizes the present scale of official salaries as excessive in comparison with prices for farm products. Edmisten proposes to reduce salaries of public officers by submitting a constitutional amendment on that subject.
He claims that the new party stands for the cutting down of taxes and asks voters to take political action to aid the movement by joining the tax reduction clubs which will be organized.

Rheumatism.
A Remarkable Remedy Treated Given by One Head T.
In the year of 1892 I was attacked by Muscular and Sub-acute Rheumatism and suffered as only those who are thus afflicted know. For three years I tried remedy after remedy, but such relief as obtained was only temporary. Finally, I found a treatment that cured me completely, and such a fitting condition has returned. I have given it to a number of my friends who were afflicted, even bedridden, some of them seventy-eight years old, and the results were the same as in my own case. I want every sufferer from this form of muscular and sub-acute rheumatism to try the "Great Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't pay a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to you. After you receive it, you will have proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of getting rid of such form of rheumatism. I may send the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied. If it isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

THREE CHILDREN ARE FOUND DEAD FROM GAS FUMES.
HOUSTON, Texas, April 20.—Three children, huddled together in their bed, were found dead at their home this morning. Gas fumes filled the room, escaping from a kitchen stove. The children were Louise Mathis, 6; Elizabeth, 8; and William, 9; who lived with their father, H. J. Mathis, and their grandfather, V. S. Mathis. Neither the father nor grandfather could account for the open gas jets of the stove, which had poured into the room during the night.

LINCOLN IS ON THRESHOLD OF BIG DEVELOPMENT.

Says New Capitol is Start of City's Broadest Achievement.
Tells Lions of Progress Here in Eight Year Period.

"We are just now on the threshold of the city's broadest achievement in development. The new capitol, for which $5,000,000 has been broken and contracts let for portions of the structure, in the basis of this, that is, it is the dominating factor," declared Frank D. Tomson, of Woods Brothers companies in a talk before members of the Lions club at noon today. He briefly reviewed the building progress of the city since he came to Lincoln eight years ago.

"We accept the every day development of a city as a matter of course but habitually minimize its extent as it comes along," said Mr. Tomson. "Looking back over a brief span of years, however, we are amazed at the magnitude of such development when considered in the aggregate."

LEGION TO SELL DAISIES TO GET MEMORIAL FUNDS.
Local Branch and Auxiliary Plan to Dispose of 10,000 in Lincoln.
Money Will Be Used for Decorating Graves and to Aid Disabled.
Thousands of daisies are going to be worn by patriotic Lincoln citizens on Memorial day in honor of the dead. The American Legion Auxiliary and Legion of Lincoln anticipating the demand here, has ordered over 10,000 daisies which will be sold from the street corners by pretty girls and patriotic women. The money thus secured will be used to decorate the graves of the brave men who gave their lives in the recent world war and for distributing cheer amongst those who gave their health or were disabled that America might be free.
The daisy is now the official flower of the American Legion, and the Auxiliary in Nebraska has adopted the same flower. The Legion no longer favors the poppy as a memorial flower because of the fact that agricultural interests were afraid that it might become a nuisance as a weed if planted in this country extensively. It is such a nuisance in France and only has a poetical significance for visitors. Another reason for the American Legion's dislike of the poppy is that the flower was because certain organizations were trying to commercialize it and use the profits for private purposes.
The flower to be sold this year is made in the United States and all the profit goes direct to the Legion and Auxiliary memorial fund. The flowers are bought from the manufacturer by state headquarters and distributed to the Legion post and Auxiliary chapters.

There are about an equal number of the company's shares held at Omaha.

Navy Fight Has Gone Into Senate.
WASHINGTON, April 20.—The navy fight passed on to the senate today leaving a wake of bitter feelings and republican insurgency in the house against the leadership of Floor Leader Mondell.
The "bigger navy" republicans in the house were elated over their victory over the "little navy" leadership of Representative Mondell. They openly predicted that hereafter Mondell would find himself shorn of much of his leadership and the house majority in the future would look to the white house for guidance.

Linch, have filed a notice of appeal to the supreme court from the judgment and decree of the district court against them in which Mr. Linch was ordered to pay $25,000 to the company, $2,000 of which was assessed jointly against both Mr. and Mrs. Linch.

ELECTRICITY NOW UNIVERSAL LIGHT.
Avery Says It Has Outstripped All Former Competitors.
Light Men From All Parts of the State Attend Convention.
Electric light men from all parts of the state are in Lincoln attending the annual convention of the Nebraska section of the National Electric Light association, which is held here Thursday and Friday on invitation of the engineering college of the university.
Dean O. J. Ferguson of the engineering college read the address of welcome by Chancellor Avery Wednesday morning in the absence of the chancellor who was at a meeting of the regents. The chancellor's paper traced the development of artificial light alongside civilization from the time before campfires up through the tallow and oil stage to gas and electricity. He spoke of the period of rivalry between gas and electricity and said that now electricity is supreme. He invited the delegates to visit the university.
The response was delivered by W. B. Roberts of Omaha, president of the association.
The principal features of the convention are inspection of the engineering laboratories on the city campus of the university and addresses there Thursday afternoon, and the program Friday afternoon. At that time the convention will inspect the agricultural college and F. H. Brooks of Omaha will give a report of the farm line committees.
The following committees were appointed at the opening meeting Thursday:
Nominations—T. S. Fritts, Grand Island; O. J. Shaw, Lincoln; E. G. Clemens, Omaha.
Auditing—A. McMaster, Lincoln; Otto Mallett, Lincoln; P. H. Burt, Albion.
Resolutions—J. E. Davidson, Omaha; H. C. Johnston, Superior; James B. Harvey, Omaha.

FILES CLAIM.
On November 9, 1921, Sheriff Miller levied on property of the Camp-Hallett company, 219-23 South Tenth street, for the unpaid taxes. Now Claude S. Wilson, attorney for E. G. Bohanan, who owned the property in which the Camp-Hallett company was a tenant, claims that the sheriff kept a new tenant from occupying the property eight days before the Camp-Hallett company's lease expired, and therefore he has asked the county to pay him $5,250, which he says represents the amount of rent lost.
As city taxes also were to be collected by the levy, the county commissioners have asked the city of Lincoln to pay a part of the claim. The matter will be considered by the city council when it meets next Monday. It is understood that the county attorney has recommended to the county commissioners that they pay the claim.

MINERVA'S MAIL

Take Your Troubles to Minerva

Cheers for Old Batch.

Dear Minerva—Three cheers for "Old Batch!" How did you come to do it, man? Where did you get the nerve? When you stopped running long enough to look back and see whether the whole bloodthirsty pack is still snapping at your heels here's hoping you'll turn around and face the music and tell 'em some more about divorce. Hit 'em again. Hit 'em hard.

It's as much as one's life is worth to remind Minerva's readers of anything Jesus Christ or St. Paul has said on any subject, for all "broad-minded" and "tolerant" free thinkers no longer bow to the authority of either.

Somebody else said much the same thing on divorce a few years ago and she barely escaped being scolded alive. Old Batch, how can you expect a people whose ancestors frolicked about in the tree tops and swung by their caudal appendage, to give credence to St. Paul, St. Peter or any of the rest of the new Testament saints?

Don't monkey with them. When a man disbelieves God's word, he calls God a liar, that is sufficient sin to damn him. You know and I know what God has said about divorce. But do you hope to convince anyone?

The God who rides upon the storm and created the heavens and the earth sent His well beloved Son to earth to enlighten the people on a lot of vital matters, divorce and baptism among others. He denounced divorce in words that will live when all else had vanished, and He showed us what baptism is by going down into the waters and fulfilling all righteousness. Yet on these two points people such as the "broad-minded" and "tolerant" free thinkers profess to be His children.

He who despises an ordinance of God despises the God of the ordinance. Put this in your pipe and smoke it, all you who are not willing to abide by scripture. AN ADMIRER.

Ambitious Though Married

Dear Minerva—I am married to one of the finest boys in the world and have two babies, also the finest in the world. All this and I am twenty-one. We are just common people such as the butcher, the baker, etc. I received a high school education, fine arts course, and now I come to my problem. I love drawing and have quite a little ability. What few teachers I have had had quite a little confidence in my efforts. But of course I got nothing but the most elementary ideas of drawing and I wonder if I could get any real good out of a correspondence course in commercial art. The fever is at me again and I simply feel as though I must draw and when I realize I have nothing to work with I just make me sick. Of course what little talent I have will have to be developed with nothing but hard work. But I am so willing to work hard to satisfy myself that I believe that is the secret of happiness.

I love the children, their father and my home. But I am not entirely satisfied. There is a growing restlessness in me somewhere that has to have expression and I don't know how to leave the house and take lessons from someone here so I would so much appreciate your candid opinion of what I have in mind.

Also Minerva, I want to talk better English. I've been wondering if a few moments reading aloud would help. Of course it would and the right sort of reading to accomplish this and I wish you would suggest a book or two of this sort.

I sometimes wonder, Minerva, if I'm not foolish. I'm sure my husband's mother thinks so. Perhaps I should let well enough alone. I sometimes think that the entirely uneducated woman is the better off. But when I think that isn't right. But when I think I'm wrong to be a little ambitious.

A I shall answer your last question first, taking up the general view of your problem before considering the specific points. You are very much in the right to retain and give serious thought to your ambition. It is quite a hobby of mine that women need not and should not give up their personal ambitions and talents when they take up wifehood and motherhood. The period of adjustment gone through after marriage, and particularly while babies are being brought into the world, is not one in which the personal ambitions thrive. The creative work required in this establishing of a home and family are quite sufficient to employ the young mother's powers of thought and energy for a time. But fortunate is she who holds on to her personal interests through this period and when she has more leisure chooses to utilize her spare time in self improvement and constructive, creative work. Whatever her chief interests, music, literature, art, athletics—she is happier not to put them in her past life just because she is the wife and mother. She is all the better wife and mother for keeping herself up.

EVEN TINY TOTS WEAR CAPE COATS

Baby's wardrobe must be just a fashionable as that of the older members of the family. The cape coat, which is the latest word even in baby wear, is here made of a light cloth with a wide collar cut square and tied under a dumpy chin with ties made of pink and blue ribbon braided.

So do not let the skeptical and the scoffers turn you from your ambitions. They are worthy and admirable in every way.

Now as to the means of furthering your desires. There are a number of most excellent correspondence schools in art, commercial and other lines, a course in which would be of great value to you. If you do not know which are the standard schools and wished to send a self addressed envelope I will gladly send you the names of those recommended by persons who know. With your readiness to work hard to achieve your ideal, you should get a great deal from a correspondence course.

Your idea of reading aloud as a means of improving your English is good. Make it a habit to pronounce aloud especially all difficult and unfamiliar names and words verifying the pronunciation by aid of the dictionary. Never skip over an unfamiliar word but master it make it familiar right there. Look up its meaning and pronunciation repeat it over, make sure you know how to use it. Make it your very own. Thus you will broaden your vocabulary. I do not want to say certain books for this. But select standard writers

Brown Eyes. I do not pass judgment on proprietary remedies. However I know of no way of reducing weight which does not include dieting. This does not mean fasting, you know. You may eat of strengthening food. It is quite unnecessary to be weak. Simply avoid overeating, and avoid those foods which make fat the sweets and the starches.

Helen. Membraneous croup is classed with diphtheria; in fact it is known medically as diphtheria croup. It is contagious and a quarantine is placed until clinical recovery is attained. Under two negative cultures from nose and throat taken 24 hours apart are secured. The symptoms are sore throat, fever, headache, backache and prostration. The period of incubation is four to six days.

Mrs. H. V. The well-fed child receives every day at least one food from each of the following groups, milk and dishes made chiefly of milk, meat, fish, poultry, eggs and meat substitutes.

Bread and other cereal foods. Butter and other wholesome fats. Vegetables and fruits. Simple sweets.

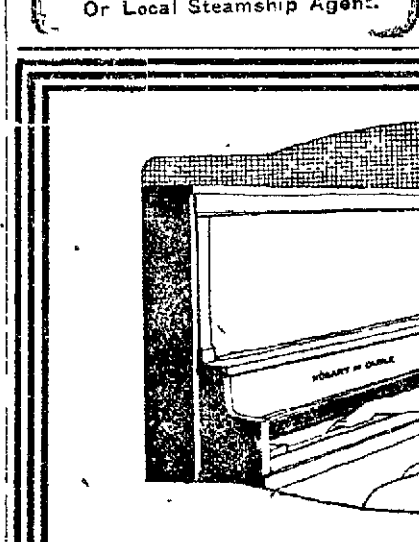

Young Mother. The time for weaning the baby is 9 to 12 months depending on the season. Most doctors advise against weaning the baby during the hot weather. Substituting one bottle for a feeding every few days, then two bottles and so on until the child is entirely weaned.

G. T. It has been quite a fad recently for brides to wear a wedding dress of a pastel shade rather than the conventional white. It is usual when the colored dress is worn to omit the veil. However I know of several recent weddings where the veil was worn with a colored dress. Personally I would prefer the very informal ceremony and to omit the veil if the colored dress is chosen. The long white gloves should be worn. Lavender, dainty shades of rose or blue, any such shades would be appropriate. The groom may wear a dark business suit for the afternoon wedding, if it is informal. He should wear formal clothes for a formal wedding. If he has a lot of attendants etc. You may request your friends not to give showers for you. It is not necessary to have a gift room for the display of gifts but is a convenience to do so if many gifts are received. The very simple home wedding at which only near relatives are asked to come, does not require

Farm Bureau Goes Gunning After Tax Dodgers in State

In order that the ferreting out of the tax dodger may be made effective for the current year, the Nebraska Farm Bureau federation has started a movement throughout the state for making public the personal tax schedules turned in this year.

Under the farm bureau plan a committee of five or six citizens of each precinct is asked to meet with the precinct assessor and go over the individual tax returns before the schedules are verified, and returned to the county assessor. This committee, which should be as thoroughly informed as possible with the probable holdings of men in the precinct can then assist the assessor in picking out individuals who have not returned proper amounts to the assessor.

The secretary of the Farm Bureau tax committee says: "Such a committee should feel that they are chosen to perform a noble and important duty for the public and should act courageously, and honestly seek to force a just return by each property owner. Working in this way in each locality a real equalization can be effected, a real equalization can be effected well known to his neighbors."

Such a plan is also necessary, Farm Bureau officials say, because the law of 1915 seeking to secure publication of tax schedules seems to be inadequate to meet the situation.

SANDUSKY, O. April 19.—The total damage done by a fifty-five mile gale in Sandusky and vicinity last night will run high into the thousands.

(NORTH JOURN., Neb., April 20.)—Peter White, more than 90 years old, a pioneer of Missouri valley territory, the name by which the now states of North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Wyoming and part of Montana were designated in the days before the civil war, is dead at his home here.

He freighted across the plains that bound the Platte during days when the name Nebraska was not applied to a commonwealth, fighting his way against numerous Indian bands, and piled only now and then by isolated and feeble garrisons of troops, the greater number of whom were stationed at old Fort Kearney.

Born in Belgium in 1832, Mr. White came to the United States with his parents at the age of 14, locating for a few years in Wisconsin.

The reason for this is that the weather which has kept the farmers out of the fields, the sowing of oats has been somewhat delayed and some have changed their crop plans for the year, and now, looking as much as the fall, the measure which has fallen has put the ground in excellent shape for the crops already planted, including alfalfa, wheat and pastures.

Great Cereal Producing Nation Not To Be Reckoned in Market for Years.

J. A. Patton Says Psychology

Vice Versa.

(International News Service.)

CHICAGO, April 20.—Russia, according to James J. Patton, "wheat king" is today the big outstanding economic factor governing the trend of the world's wheat prices. This great grain producing nation is not to be reckoned in the world market for three years at least, he said.

That's the chief reason Patton is a "bull." The battle scarred 63 year old "wheat king" of trade operator denies that he is at present engaged in a "bitter" war with J. Ogden Armour. Reports persist of a "hot" war in the wheat market—that some "later" "shorts" in May wheat will find themselves in a tight place. Patton is said to be "long" Armour "short."

World Factor Before War.

"Before the war there was a big world factor. She used to export daily 2,000,000 bushels of wheat and 3,000,000 bushels of rye into Germany and Austria-Hungary. That's our business now."

Cold Wave Settles Over Illinois and Adds to Horrors of Water.

Boat Carrying Supplies Was

(International News Service.)

CHICAGO, April 20.—Relief agencies are working desperately today to bring aid to communities where widespread suffering has resulted from floods that have made thousands homeless throughout the entire Mississippi valley. A cold wave which settled over the middle west yesterday continued today, added to the discomforts felt by those who have been driven from their homes by floods.

High water continued along almost the entire length of the Mississippi and most of its tributaries are running bankfull, if they have not already been through the dikes and levees built to hold them in restraint. Appeals for aid have been sent out to the Red Cross and other agencies. The federal government has been asked also to give assistance in fighting the floods that threaten many localities. Damage to railroads and highways makes difficult the task of carrying supplies of food and clothing to those who have been driven from their homes.

Marooned in Homes.

In the vicinity of McClure, Ill., scores of families are marooned in the upper stories of their homes with only a meagre food supply. A relief steambot sent out from Cairo was forced by high winds to return to its dock but is expected to put out again and reach McClure today.

Auxiliary Broken Bow, Bridgeport, Chadron, Cozad, Gering, Hering, Lexington, Mitchell, Rushville, Gering, Scottsbluff, and North Platte are cities that are sending hospital comforts.

FALLS CITY—More than 100 former service men were found positions of some kind in the campaign conducted by the local post in this vicinity. Seventy-seven of these have permanent positions.

The post has named an athletic committee, whose subdivisions will manage the various post athletic activities. Baseball has the attention of the post at the present time.

TILDEN—On the eve of entering its new club rooms, the local post turned them over to the school board for temporary use as school rooms. Fire recently destroyed a Tilden school building. The rooms serve fifty children as a study hall.

DUNNING—In a county of but 1,800 population, the local post boasts a remarkable membership. Recently the local post has been successful in securing the country's area. Three ex-service men were found that did not belong to the American Legion. Activities of the post are keeping pace with its record.

LINCOLN—Charters mailed to auxiliary units last week include those to Syracuse, Pierce and Kearney. Herman and Butte have made application for units at those two cities.

NEWMAN GROVE—The auxiliary to the local post has arranged with the business men to serve monthly meetings of the business men. In this fashion, the unit expects to increase its treasury fund.

CURTIS—Membership in the local post has increased nearly 50 per cent over that of last year. In keeping with its stride in membership, post activities also are in the upgrade. The post's most recent financial success being a box social and pie supper.

VERDIGRE—The proposed for a state Legion radiophone system has met with the approval of the local post, which is advancing plans for the installation of a radiophone in a new club house, equipped with service to the community as well as the post.

LEWELLEN—The fund which the local post has in trust for the final purchase and equipping of club rooms was considerably swelled by receipts from a play staged by post members.

KAYARD—With a membership of forty-five, the local post has three more members than it had this time last year. The post is out for more.

OMAHA—The work done by the Omaha post has been such that a letter of special recognition has been received from C. W. Andrews of Arlington, member of the executive committee and chairman of welfare work.

Says Wife Regrets Obtaining Divorce From Predecessor

(Special to The Star.)
FREMONT, Neb., April 20.—Nels Christensen, a Northwestern laborer, complains in district court that his wife, Edna, now residing in Lincoln, lamented the fact that she had divorced her previous husband. Constant reference, Christensen says, was made by his spouse to the fine qualities of his predecessor, as compared with his own humble virtues. Christensen says further that he learned after marrying Edna she had been divorced from four previous husbands. Her third, he says, is the one that she regrets she left. By previous marriages, Christensen says, his wife had children who conspired with her against him. He asks separation.

Man of Seventy Defies Age; Runs Annual Marathon

(Associated Press.)
BOSTON, April 20.—Although the Boston A. A. would not accept the entry of the seventy-year-old Winchester athlete, Peter Foley, for yesterday's marathon run, Foley declared there was no law against his running twenty-five miles, and a few minutes after the official entrance had gone down the road, he trotted after them.

The field drew away from him, but he did not care. He only wanted to show that, at his age, he could run twenty-five miles, as he had done on many previous marathon days, and to celebrate his seventieth birthday which was the previous day.

Three hours and 48 minutes after he started, the veteran crossed the finish line, cheered by the crowd which had waited for him.

HAVE LOVE FEAST IN CUSTER COUNTY

Road Probe Committee is Entertained at Broken Bow.

Dr. Hoffmeister Declares No Politics in Investigation.

BROKEN BOW, Neb., April 20.—In a talk made before the Broken Bow Chamber of Commerce Wednesday afternoon, Representative Hoffmeister declared that there was any politics in the central Nebraska investigation by the special session of the legislature to investigate the cost of federal, state and county highways. The tour is being made in the interest of all money being spent, said Dr. Hoffmeister. "But since I have seen the wonderful results achieved in Custer county and elsewhere and have learned that Nebraska is paying less for her highways than other states, that prejudice has gone."

Members of the committee driving from Kearney were met at the edge of Custer county by a large delegation of citizens headed by Representative Purcell. The thirty-mile drive to Broken Bow was made in less than an hour, he said, over an excellent state aid road. A chicken dinner was given the party by the Chamber of Commerce.

Governor McKelvie, Attorney General Davis, Senators Bush and Rickard, Federal Engineer Bishop and State Engineer Johnson complimented Custer county on its splendid road system and its splendid cooperation with the state department. Representative Epperson, referring to himself as the goat of the party, spoke briefly on the benefit of good highways.

Over ninety miles of Buffalo, Custer and Sherman county roads were inspected by the party Wednesday morning and over 100 miles during the afternoon.

Baltimore "Feds" Appeal Their Case to Supreme Court

(Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, April 20.—Professional baseball, as represented by major and minor leagues, operating under the national agreement, was asked yesterday in the supreme court by counsel for the Baltimore club, of the defunct Federal league, in arguing the suit of that club for damages alleged to have been suffered under the "peace" agreement with organized baseball.

The Baltimore club contended that professional baseball teams under their schedules engaged in interstate commerce and that those which are parties to the national agreement constitute a monopoly in restraint of interstate commerce in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The U. S. court of appeals of the District of Columbia, reversing a decision of the supreme court of the district, awarding the Baltimore club damages of $240,000, held that professional baseball teams were not engaged in interstate commerce.

BOSTON, April 20.—The best long distance runner in the country eleven years ago again proved himself today, badly beaten up. He told a story of having been kidnapped in Florida and thrown into a box car at Wesley City unconscious. When he regained consciousness, he said he walked to Pekin.

Not only did he defeat a field of the fastest hikers in the United States and Canada, including five other winners of this event, but he set a new record for the distance. Demar, time of two hours, eighteen minutes, ten seconds on the twenty-five mile of rolling roads was 47 3-5 seconds better than the record made by Frank T. Zuna of New York (who won eighth yesterday) in winning the year. It was three and a half minutes faster than the time Demar made as champion in 1911, which was itself a record.

Second to Demar was Willie Ritoli of New York, a newcomer to the American marathon but within the first five. He finished three minutes and a half behind Demar in two hours, twenty-one minutes, 44 3-5 seconds.

After finishing with a sprint, Demar said first he was "fresh as a daisy," then admitted he was "a bit dizzy" from his terrific speed up on the home stretch. But while he was finishing several minutes after him were laid out, he drank soda pop and ate frankfurters, remarking that "when I won in 1911 we had beer."

"I was in my shop Tuesday night. It was about 7:30. I was alone. I don't remember how I came in. I don't remember how many. They grabbed me and carried me out to an automobile. We rode and rode, and—that's all I can remember."

BANK UNABLE TO WEATHER STORM

Hart Receives Message to This Effect From Dixon Institution.

Failure at Newcastle Necessitates Another Draft on Guaranty Fund.

Failure of the Newcastle bank at Newcastle, Dixon county, was announced by Trade and Commerce Secretary Hart upon receipt of the following telegram from the place Thursday morning:

"This is the worst the storm. The closed the doors. Posted notices and allowed your action."

The news was unexpected by Hart, although he knew the bank was having financial difficulty. A special examination made a month ago showed its reserves low and funds tied up in frozen paper.

State Examiner P. L. Ziegler, whose territory covers northeastern Nebraska, will be instructed to go to Newcastle at once and take charge of the closed bank.

J. F. Whittemore is president of the bank. Fred Whittemore of Lincoln, vice president, and T. F. Dougherty, cashier.

Last December 28, the Newcastle bank's statement showed deposits of $183,000 and loans amounting to $183,000. Its capital was $50,000 and surplus $20,000.

This is the sixth failure in Nebraska since January 1. It will necessitate another draft on the state guaranty fund to pay depositors. About thirty-five failures have occurred during the period of approximately three years.

Commission Says it Lacks the Power to Force Companies to Merge.

Supreme Court Denies Any Such Authority to Supervisory Board.

Because it has no power to compel companies to merge, the commission has been forced to drop its plan to force the merger of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company and the Hamilton County Farmers' Telephone association, by dismissing the complaint and counter complaint which have been before it for about four years.

Originally, the matter was presented by a petition from Charles H. Beebe and eighteen other patrons at Hampton demanding that the plants of the two companies be merged, so as to do away with the necessity of duplicate telephone lines.

This was met by the farmers' company with the accusation that the complainants were acting in the interest of the Lincoln company to force its competitor to sell out.

At one time the commission issued an order forbidding either company to encroach on the territory of its rival or to take subscribers from each other.

NEBRASKANS WERE HEAVY INVESTORS

Nearly $2,500,000 in Certificates of Investors Syndicate Held in This State.

Stock certificates to the gross amount of $2,498,100, whose present value is only a fraction of that sum, were held by Nebraska people in the Investors' Syndicate of Minneapolis, an installment investment concern, according to its report in the hands of the state tax commission.

Certificates are issued on a plan somewhat similar to those of building and loan associations. Regular monthly payments are made on them, and the certificates mature at their face value when fully paid up. Their present worth is computed on a "sur-render value" basis.

A partial list of the certificates held shows that $300,000 of the certificates are owned in Douglas county, $250,000 in Clay, $220,000 in Boone, $125,000 in Merrick, $40,000 in Nemaha, and $10,000 in the Lincoln National Life Insurance Co. of Lansing, Mich., has a few small stockholdings in Nebraska among the members.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.
The many high school athletes competing in the interscholastic events over the state are planning to launch a regular offensive on the state track record sheet in the championship meet May 13 in Lincoln.

Last spring it seemed certain that several marks would be shattered, but the athletes were forced to compete under unfavorable weather conditions and, as a result, only one record was shattered—the achievement of Rhodes of Anselby in the pole vault.

A number of the state records are of long standing. In the second annual meet the 100-yard dash was shattered off in 10-1-5 seconds. The scores of sprinters that have competed in following seventeen meets have failed to lower the mark, although five have equalled it.

The one of 10-1-5 seconds was first established by Burrus of Lincoln and Wildman of York, who tied for it in a triangular meet following the state championships. Burrus and Wildman broke the record at the same time and shared in the honor of setting a new mark in the century event.

Holds Two State Records.
Burrus hung up another record the same day. He stepped on the dash in 23-2-5 seconds and the more than hundred sprinters that have since aimed at the record have failed to better or equal the time set by the Lincoln athlete in 1904. Wildman also opposed Burrus in the state that year and broke the record in the century event.

Lincoln and Omaha were ruled out of the early state championship meet by the high school athletic association sponsored a triangular meet between the winner of the state competition and Lincoln and Omaha.

Entry blanks for the 1922 state championship meet have been forwarded to high schools members of the Nebraska high school athletic association.

Three Distinct Championships.
As has been the custom the past two years, there will be three distinct championships at the state meet. For each championship there will be an individual and team and individual trophies.

Group one will comprise all eligible high schools that have an enrollment for this year of under 100 pupils. Group two will consist of all eligible high schools with an enrollment between 100 and 275.

Group three will consist of all eligible high schools with an enrollment above 275 for the school year. There will be four places in each event with the following awards: Five for first, three for second, two for third and one for fourth.

Each school may enter not more than four men in each event. Only two may compete, however.

Individual and Team Awards.
In each group championship there will be bronze medals for first, second and third places in each event. For fourth place there will be silk badges.

The event championship medals will be special medals donated for each event. They will be awarded to the athlete making the highest performance in each event regardless of the groups in which they may compete.

In each group championship special silk banners will be awarded to each team that places first, second or third in the total points won in each group. The team making the fastest time in the relay will be awarded a special relay banner.

The following events will comprise the competition in the state meet: 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash, 880-yard run, one mile run, 120-yard high hurdles, 220-yard low hurdles, 12-pound shot put, discus throw, running high jump, running broad jump, pole vault, half mile relay.

Callaway First in.
Callaway is the first high school to send in an official entry list to the state meet. The team will be placed in group one.

SIXTEEN TEAMS IN LOCAL LOOPS

Lincoln Amateurs Expand By Taking in Woodmen and F. O. E. Clubs.

Lincoln's amateur baseball association will sponsor two pennant races this season, with eight teams in each league. Decision to increase the number of teams from fourteen to sixteen was handed down Wednesday night at a special session of the association. Withdrawal of the Havelock Bismarckers from the association was announced by Manager John Williams and a special committee appointed to recruit a sixteen-team league to take the place of the Havelock Bismarckers. The new teams taken into membership at the Wednesday session, it is reported, are the Woodmen and F. O. E. clubs.

Leagues Have New Titles.
Instead of class A and class B, the two leagues will put on the flag campaign under the titles of Capital City and Commercial leagues. With the new teams, the league lineups announced a week ago. The Commercial league, in all probability, will be promoted to the upper class, competing in the Capital City loop.

The secretary of the association was voted authority to draft the schedules and make all preparations for the inauguration of the season April 30. With two eight-team leagues in the field, the schedule will require several twilight games, with doubleheaders on July 4 and August 1, and the season will wind up about the middle of September.

Check Put on Players.
Members of association teams taking part in local games where admission is charged in conflict with scheduled association games in the Lincoln territory, will be suspended for the entire season. This rule was adopted by unanimous vote.

President Howard Barrett and the officers and directors of the association announced today that the Lincoln State League club, which cannot complete its new park on West street until late in April, would be invited to use Rock Island park for practice purposes. The privilege will be granted by the amateur association free of charge.

Inter-Company Men Compete in Track

The latest intra-mural meet planned for state university athletes is an inter-company meet which will be held on Nebraska field May 6. Teams recruited from the R. O. T. C. companies will compete in the meet.

The time of the final varsity track meet has been changed to 3:30 p. m. Saturday so as not to conflict with the Nebraska-Wesleyan baseball game which will begin at 1:30 p. m.

Four Towns Form "Polly" Ball Loop

(Special to The Star.)
HOLSTEIN, Neb., April 20.—Four towns have formed a baseball circuit which is to be called the "Polly" loop. The towns included are Holstein, Bladen, Bluehill and Red Cloud. Games will be played every Sunday beginning May 7. The season will end September 17.

Officers selected are: W. B. Hargraves of Holstein, president; Fred McBride, Bluehill, vice-president; W. J. Hamilton, Red Cloud, treasurer; William Ruschke, Bladen, secretary.

In the high school out for practice each night, all fighting hard for a letter or numeral award.

Pierce has been making the 100-yard dash under 11 seconds and the 220-yard dash around 24 seconds. Watkins, a high jumper, has made 5 feet 10 1/2 inches, which is better than the state record. Marks is getting better than 100 feet on the discus and Maryott and Schulte are showing improvement in the high and low hurdles.

Callaway is also entered in the high school pentathlon. He Callaway is handicapped by a rather slow start. Next year the plan is to erect a new high school building and the athletes are hoping for a colder track on the new school ground.

Records at York Meet.
For the high school fans and athletes who like to compare track records for the season, the following records made by athletes in the York-Pawnee-Osceola triangles are recorded. York won the meet, which was held on a heavy track at York.

100-yard dash—Won by Hickley, Osceola. Time, 11-2-5 seconds.

Diamond Dope In State Loop

League President Miles has appointed Earl Snyder of Newell, Ia., a member of the State loop umpiring staff. A communication from President Miles to The Star states that "Snyder comes highly recommended."

Magnate George Segrist of the Fairbury club has been compelled to cancel the arrangement for an exhibition game April 27 with the Sioux City Western leaguers. Inability of the Sioux City management to figure out a possible train jump from Fairbury to Sioux City that would insure the Western leaguers getting home for their opening game April 28, factored in the cancellation of the proposed exhibition at Fairbury.

The Beatrice management has closed up for an exhibition rumpus with the Tecumseh Indians, scheduled for Sunday, April 23, on the Tecumseh diamond. The Beatrice invasion will give Tecumseh fans their first fling at Sunday baseball.

The advance guard of the Norfolk Elkhorns has reported to Manager Ernie Adams and preliminary workouts are in progress on the state fair diamond. The full Norfolk squad is due to show up late this week.

The Hastings Tribune gives publicity to another complaint by Manager Harry Smith, who professes to be so fearful that the Lincoln management is plotting to violate the league's salary limit that it must be necessary for Hastings to stop play with the limit line. The persistence with which the Hastings pilot protests against the imaginary sins of the Lincoln management justifies very clearly the suggestion that Harry Smith will hear watching. Whether he can get by with it is another matter.

FRENCH VICTOR IN PALMER BOUT

Soklyn Had Better of Battle Until Shoved Through the Ropes and Injured.

(Special to The Star.)
PALMER, Neb., April 20.—Kid French of Central City was declared winner over Sidney Soklyn of Lincoln here last night in the ninth round of the main event on the American Legion post's glove program.

Soklyn's defeat was due to an injury sustained as the result of being pushed through the ropes and a subsequent fall. The Lincoln welterweight's head collided with a chair. He crawled back into the ring, but was so badly dazed that he could not defend himself and gave the referee the Central City boxer.

Prior to the ninth session, Soklyn was out-fought French and was in line to receive the verdict on points. Manager Billy Hale, acting for Soklyn, protested the referee's failure to disqualify French for shoving his opponent through the ropes. He indicated last night that he would challenge French on Soklyn's behalf for another bout.

Fulton Defeats Sudeberg.
(Special to The Star.)
TECUMSEH, Neb., April 20.—"Whit" Fulton, younger brother of Fred Fulton, out-fought Johnny Sudeberg last night in the main event of the American Legion post's boxing show and clearly qualified for the decision awarded in his favor by Referee Earl Trenholm of Lincoln at the end of the tenth round.

Fulton had the advantage in every round but the second and third, in which Sudeberg held his own. The younger Fulton made the most of his superior reach and height, out-boxing Sudeberg, declared the referee. Fulton's victory was loudly cheered by the thousand or more boxing fans assembled at the fair grounds auditorium. Fulton weighed in at 165 pounds and Sudeberg at 159.

Jimmy Murray, 39 pounds, both of Lincoln, squared off in the opening round, neither the verdict going to Murray on points.

The six-round semi-windup by Asa Huddins and Harold Jelsma, 115-pounders of Lincoln, was a slugging battle. Jelsma once dropped Huddins with a stiff right, but Huddins finished strongly, twice flooring Jelsma for a count and once putting his opponent through the ropes. Jelsma came back gamely, but Huddins had a clear margin in the three final rounds and was awarded the decision.

Coach Shakes Up Columbia Crew
NEW YORK, April 20.—Every man on the starboard side of the Columbia varsity crew changed position yesterday in a big shakeup instituted by Coach Jim Rice. Columbia is training in the water in less than two weeks.

Missouri "Prexy" Boosts Athletics
CHICAGO, April 20.—Athletic teams have an important part in college life, declared President J. C. Jones of the University of Missouri in an address to alumni of the institution here last night. "I would rather have a nice safe job with a crowd of rambling dynamite down drill holes in a quarry than be president of a university which has no athletic teams," he said.

SPOTLIGHT TURNS ON AMATEUR FAKE

East Threatens Expose of A. U. Methods of Spreading Coin.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.
(International News Service.)
NEW YORK, April 20.—A certain sports authority threatens or promises, as the case may be, to begin today what he is pleased to term an exposure of amateur athletics. It is prepared that he means track and field activities generally, and the Amateur Athletic Union specifically. Just how far this man can or will go with the matter remains to be seen, but it knows anything at all, he knows enough.

The definition "amateur," as applied to a track and field athlete of any prominence at all, is a rare, precious word.

All too few of them are real, professional-can-touch-me amateurs, and the majority of these have reached that estate only because their ability is negligible.

Second-Raters Not Wanted.
A consistent also-ran is of slight consequence to the promoter of athletic meets; therefore, he retains his amateur status with neither difficulty or credit to himself.

But of the champion whose appearance is believed will make a set of games a financial and competitive success. Often he is brought on from a distant city, forsaking for the moment whatever line of business he happens to be following for the considerable pleasure of planning around a track—merely that.

If you have a lively faith in human nature, that theory will sound quite sensible to you. If not, you may exercise the privilege of drawing your own conclusion. The ugly word "appearance money" is used from time to time in connection with this type of athletic mania, who seems to be footloose and fancy-free in the matter of indulging his taste for competition.

Guards Secrets Closely.
True, enough, it is only occasionally that an athlete is publicly charged with having accepted appearance money. If he really accepts money, he cannot be blamed for keeping the transaction a matter of private property. Some times, however, he becomes quite eloquent in his disregard of both theory and practice of amateurism, and, regrettably, he is buried.

On other occasions it is a case of becoming careless with exposure and then they call him up on the carpet for an explanation. That this is consistently convincing either proves that the athlete, as a whole, is a plausible gentleman indeed, or that the A. U. is made up of every credulous individual.

Spread of Golf in Nebraska Speels Successful Season
(Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, April 20.—Comparative trials of steel and wooden-shafted golf clubs were made yesterday by three expert players. Valparaiso, of the Western golf association at the Edgewater club. A sixty-mile gale, with snow on its wings, made the experiment inconclusive and the club should be barred as mechanical applications was deferred for further tests a fair weather.

The present year promises a record apart in the spread of golf. There have been formed in Nebraska, alone, twenty-six new clubs in the last few months.

AWARDS MADE IN STUDENT CONTEST

Gold Medals Won By Leroy North, Oscar Bennett and Koby Sirinsky.

Annual Convention of Nebraska Music Teachers Closes With Concert.

At the closing concert of the Nebraska Music Teachers' convention at St. Paul's church Wednesday night, given by the University School of Music quartet and the University of Nebraska mixed chorus, the prizes awarded in the contest for students were announced by Mr. Moizer, president of the association.

Three prizes were awarded in each of the three divisions of the competition, piano, voice and violin. In class A, consisting of advanced students, a gold and a bronze badge were offered to the two best performers; in class B, a silver badge was the prize.

In piano the gold medal was awarded to Leroy North of Chadron, bronze medal to Genevieve Wilson of Lincoln, and silver medal to Beth Miller of Lincoln. Ribbons in class A of this section were received by Margaret Mullenwey, Chester, Helen Nall, David City, Norman Goodbrod, Lincoln, and Bertha Reese, Sioux City, Ia., in class B, by Robert Reuter of Seward.

In voice the gold medal went to Oscar Bennett of Lincoln, bronze to Ethel Woodbridge of Omaha, and silver medal by Laura Ethel Robinson of Lincoln. Ribbons in class A were given to Mrs. Agnes Livingston Birk, Grand Island, Mark E. Johnstone, Wapunga, Water, Alliance, and Bertha Brown, Albion, and Frances Rosenstock, David City, and in class B to Gladys Waterman of Lincoln.

In the violin division a class C was recognized, in which a second bronze medal was awarded. The awards ran as follows: Gold medal, Koby Sirinsky of Lincoln; bronze Stanley Caps of Lincoln, silver, Elizabeth Luce, University Place, bronze medal in class C, Carolina Schmidt, Marysville, Kas. Ribbons in class were offered to Garyn Walrath, Lincoln, in class B to Ruth Reut, Seward and Valeria Callen, University Place, in class C to Anthony Z. Donata of Wahoo.

Praise for Young Carol.

Following these regular awards, Mr. Moizer called to the platform Samuel Carmel, 11-year-old violinist from Omaha, and told him the decision of the judges that he was in a class entirely by himself, and that a special gold medal outranking the others was in process of being made for him. "The best student violinist in the state of Nebraska," and "unquestionably a great violin talent," were some of the words that Mr. Moizer used in speaking of this gifted and very self-possessed little boy.

After these awards, Sidney Silver was called to the platform to receive a personal gift from the members of the Nebraska Music Teachers' association, which was presented to him with a word of appreciation for his services to music in Nebraska, and regret that the state is to lose him to Chicago, where he goes this summer to become dean of the Sherwood School of Music.

The program opened with a charming song cycle, "The Mountebanks," by Elsie Hope Martin, a new English composer rendered by the University School of Music quartet, including Mrs. Lillian Helms Holley, soprano, Mme. Eldorado Scott, contralto, Homer Compton, tenor and H. O. Ferguson, baritone. This delightful thing, which was presented last night for the first time west of New York is written in the style of the early English folk music and has the breadth of springtime in it.

The closing of the program was the series of selections from Gounod's opera Faust given by the University of Nebraska mixed chorus of 200 voices under the direction of Mrs. C. R. Raymond and assisted by the following soloists: Margarita—Margaret Perry Siebel—Lucile Cline, Faust—Francis Diers, Valentine—Melvin Newquist, Mephistopheles—Oscar Bennett.

The orchestra included: Miss August Moizer first violin, U. G. McVey, second violin, W. T. Quick, viola, Lillian Duche violinello, C. A. Ross double bass, Donna Gustin, piano, Edith Burlinam Rose, organ.

PREDICTS CASES WILL BE DROPPED

Trial On Treason Charges Would Benefit Men, Coal Miner Declares.

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 20.—Lawrence "Peggy" Dwyer, a two-gun mountaineer, here to solicit food for 80,000 striking coal miners in West Virginia, today predicted the 500 men indicted for treason after the famous "march on Logan county" last summer, would never be tried.

As a member of the international executive committee of the United Mine Workers of America, Dwyer is alleged to have been a leader in the march which was halted only after the Logan-Boone county border had been converted into a miniature "no man's land" of battle.

He was indicted for opposition to martial law and attempting to halt the advance of American troops into the strike region. Monday he will go to Charleston W. Va., to stand trial with the 500 others indicted following the "battle."

"To try us on treason charges after sending us to Kingston and the state investigating committee determined the march on Logan county was incited by spies if the operators would be playing into our hands," Mr. Dwyer declared. "The evidence we will bring into court to prove that the fight was started by the operators themselves will only create public sympathy in our favor and help the union mine workers in the present strike."

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant food cream, gives such quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store—Advertisement.

LADY ASTOR TO SOUND KEYNOTE

Will Urge Move for Understanding Among Voting Women of World.

Peace Through Unity is Mission of Pan-American Conference.

(International News Service)

BALTIMORE, Md., April 20.—Baltimore became the feminine capital of the United States today as women notables from every state in the union and practically every country in the western hemisphere gathered for the pan-American conference and the third annual convention of the League of Women Voters.

"Peace through unity of women—is the mission of the women's pan-American conference, the first bringing together of the women of America and Latin-America."

Out of it may grow a world disarmament conference of women to demand universal peace.

Lady Nancy Astor will sound the keynote of a movement for an "understanding among the voting women of the world," in her address Friday night.

"Peace among nations is essential to the work that women have most at heart," said Maud Wood Park, president of the League of Women Voters. "We believe that friendship with our neighboring countries will be stimulated and strengthened when women from all parts of the western hemisphere come together for a sympathetic study of their common problems."

Education, child welfare, women in industry, prevention in the tariff of women, civil and political status of women and international friendliness are some of the subjects on the program for discussion.

This afternoon the program was devoted to a discussion of education with Miss Julia Abbott, United States Bureau of Education, and Mrs. Walter Dubois Brookings of California, chairman of the Americanization committee of the League of Women Voters in charge.

Lady Astor, who will arrive Friday morning, will be the "honess" of the conference.

More than 2,000 delegates, coming from every corner of the United States and representing more than 7,000,000 voters, are expected to assemble Monday for the convention.

Former Empress to Have Wish Granted

BUDAPEST, April 20.—The desire of former Empress Zita of Austria-Hungary, in exile on the island of Hungary, that her coming child be born on Hungarian soil, is to be fulfilled. Count Hunyada, in deference to her often expressed wish, made a trip from Madeira to Hungary some weeks ago, says the Hungarian Telegraph.

Money Back If "Gets-It" Fails

Nothing is so utterly needless as the suffering from aching, painful corns. It is as easy to peel off a corn as to skin a banana. Touch it with "Gets-It" and the trick is done. For nail corns, soft corns, any corn—or callus. All pain stops instantly and the corn proceeds to loosen and soon can be lifted right off.

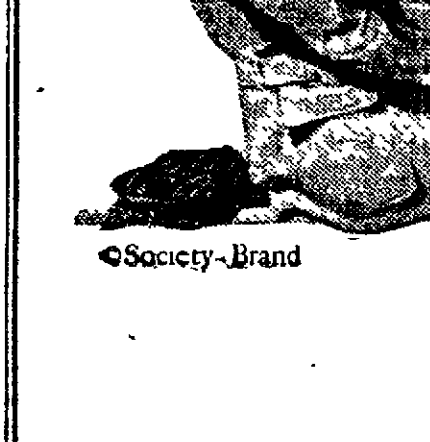

Your money cheerfully refunded if it fails. But it never fails. Costs but a trifle. E. Lawrence & Co., Mfr., Chicago.

Farm Bureau is Not to Mix in Partisan Politics

The Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation will remain aloof of partisan politics and retain its standing as a non-political organization, according to resolutions adopted at the April meeting of the executive board.

The resolution recommends that all township units and other officers of the organization not allow any candidates for political office, or any political speaker to make political addresses at any duly called farm bureau meeting. It also recommends that no township unit or county farm bureau organization go on record as endorsing candidates for political office.

ARREST MAN AS A BLACKMAILER

Charged With Attempt to Extort Money From Mrs. Jean P. Day.

(International News Service)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 20.—Edward Read, who gives his address as 1885 West Fourteenth street, this city, was in jail at 10 o'clock today, awaiting arraignment in connection with an attempt to blackmail Mrs. Jean P. Day, wife of Judge Day who recently was exonerated by a coroner's jury for the slaying of Lieut. Col. Paul Ward Beck in Day's home.

"If you don't send me $2,000, I will tell all I say that night through a window," the blackmailer's letter stated. "You and Mr. Day did not tell the truth."

The letter was signed "G. Daer" and directed the money be sent to Edna, Okla.

Read was arrested by postal authorities when he claimed a decoy package addressed to G. Daer at Edna. He denies he wrote the letter, but said he met Daer and asked for the package at Daer's request. He could not say, however, where Daer could be located.
